

Military Dictatorship With Marshal Zhukov Foreseen For Russia

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Russia is heading for a military dictatorship with Marshal Gregori Zhukov as the possible Red Napoleon. This is the consensus of U. S. intelligence authorities watching the Kremlin struggle for power.

"How soon the collision between Khrushchev and Zhukov will come is anybody's guess," a top U. S. official told NEA Service.

He added: "There is as little reason to believe in the co-existence between Khrushchev and Zhukov as there was between Khrushchev and Malenkov."

Georgi Malenkov gained the premiership of Russia after Stalin's death by playing closely with Lavrenti Beria, executed chief of the secret police. He betrayed Beria to make common cause with Nikita S. Khrushchev, who heads the Communist Party, and Marshal Zhukov, who is today the most popular leader in the Red Army.

This is the traditional Kremlin pattern. Stalin alternately used Gregory Zinoviev against Leon Trotsky and later Nikolai Bukharin against Zinoviev to become the absolute dictator of Russia.

With Beria dead and Malenkov in disgrace, the coming struggle for power—as U. S. intelligence sees it—is between the two remaining power forces in Russia—the Red Army and the Communist Party. During Stalin's life the Red Army was subordinated to the party.

Stalin even exiled Zhukov into obscurity after he led the Soviet armies to victory in Germany.

Latterly, the Red Army has taken a leading role, with Zhukov not only a soldier but also a politician.

The choice of Marshal Nikolai Bulganin—half-soldier and half-politician—as premier is seen by intelligence sources as at best an uneasy truce between the Party and the Army.

Malenkov is seen as not likely to meet the bloody fate of Beria. Beria's secret police are disgraced and the party machine and Red Army are against him. Malenkov has become merely a bloated second-rank bureaucrat whom none need even fear.

BULGE HERO PROMOTED—Lt.-Gen. Anthony C. McAuliffe, hero of the Battle of the Bulge in World War II, has been nominated as commander of the U. S. Army in Europe. If approved by the Senate, he will advance to rank of full general.

Lincoln's Faith Big Inspiration To Republicans

THOMASVILLE, Ga. (AP)—President Eisenhower declared today on Abraham Lincoln's birthday that "the greatness of the Republican party is, and will be, measured by the intensity of its devotion" to Lincoln's faith in America.

Eisenhower's message on the 167th anniversary of the first Republican President's birth was made public as the Chief Executive continued a weekend of rest and quiet shooting at the plantation estate here of Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey.

The message said: "In the present worldwide struggle between freedom and tyranny, Lincoln exemplifies the cause of America—by his faith in the individual man and woman; by his devotion to the concept that they are in fact endowed with liberty and inalienable rights; by his high resolution that 'government of the people, by the people, for the people shall not perish from the earth.'"

"The greatness of the Republican party is, and will be, measured by the intensity of its devotion to the faith of Lincoln. For all Americans, this year's observance of Lincoln Day should renew our determination to uphold the historic freedoms upon which our progress, security and happiness as a nation continue to depend."

Eisenhower's brief reference to the Republican party in the birthday message was his only bow to the political significance of the day. Unlike many other GOP leaders throughout the country, he planned no speechmaking to mark the occasion.

Movie Colony Reluctant Over Oscar Telecast

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The movie colony, worried about that egg-on-the-face look, will turn out reluctantly tonight for the first telecast in history of the Academy Award nominations.

Jan Sterling ("The High and the Mighty") summed up the feelings of all potential Oscar nominees when she asked her dressmaker to whip her up something that would look flashy enough for a winner and subdued enough for a loser.

NBC-TV has promised that the cameras will only picture the reactions of winners, not losers. That poses a dilemma for actors who hate to pass up such a huge audience, win or lose.

Starts At 9 P. M.

The telecast will begin at 8 p. m., CST, and will pick up from four spots—NBC Burbank, Ciro's, Romanoff's and the Coconut Grove.

Potential nominees will be scattered throughout all four spots. Judy Garland ("A Star Is Born") will be with emcee Jack Webb at Burbank as will Janey Wyman ("Magnificent Obsession").

Humphrey Bogart ("The Caine Mutiny") will be at Romanoff's. He was supposed to be at the downtown Coconut Grove but he declined.

"That trip's too far to drive back if they don't call your name," explained Bogie. "Besides I'm a stockholder at Romanoff's."

Stock Crosby, a favorite for "The Country Girl," will watch it on TV at home. He's just a few days out of the hospital, where he had a kidney stone removed.

Maine Event March 30

Overall there has been some resentment among movie folk about the telecasting of the nominations. Many feel that it takes away too much from the main event coming up March 30.

Marlon Brando, "On The Waterfront," is sure to be nominated but so far hasn't indicated whether he will show. The new Brando, who wears smartly tailored suits instead of T-shirts, may surprise everybody and show up.

Grace Kelly ("The Country Girl"), Audrey Hepburn ("Sabrina"), Bill Holden ("The Country Girl") and Fredric March ("Executive Suite") are all out of town.

Hopes Dim For Getting Michigan Road Program On Ballot April 4

LANSING (AP)—The leading highway advocate in the Michigan Senate said Friday there is no hope of getting a road expansion program on the April 4 ballot for voter decision.

Sen. Haskell L. Nichols (R-Jackson), chairman of the Senate Highway Committee, told the Senate that he had given up hope of placing on the ballot either Gov. Williams' 500 million dollar program or various Republican plans for a referendum on a gasoline tax increase.

Stop Gap Drafted

Nichols urged lawmakers to study carefully during the Legislature's weekend recess a new plan he submitted which would raise gasoline taxes half a cent a gallon and auto license fees about 10 percent. This would not require a vote of the people.

Nichols called his plan a "stop gap" until federal aid plans and a current survey of highway needs are completed.

Sen. Edward Hutchinson (R-Fennville) said he was not concerned about the rush by some lawmakers and Gov. Williams to get a proposal on the ballot. The deadline is Feb. 23.

"As far as I can see," Hutchinson said, "there is not going to be any bond issue so there is no need to be so hasty about getting something ready for the ballot. The Legislature can take care of this in due time."

Peltz Plan Dying

And in the House, the hopes of the Peltz bill, which requires a referendum, dropped even lower.

This measure would raise gasoline taxes two cents a gallon and allow local governments to use part of the money for their own bond issues.

College Observes Centennial Year

EAST LANSING (AP)—Michigan State College marked the start of its 100th birthday celebration today with an elaborate Founders Day program attended by hundreds of distinguished guests.

The first of three major events was the issuance of a new commemorative three-cent stamp jointly honoring MSC and Pennsylvania State College as the first of the land grant colleges.

Albert J. Robertson, assistant postmaster general, and representatives of national stamp societies attended the ceremonies.

Dr. James B. Conant, U. S. high commissioner to Germany and president emeritus of Harvard University, was the speaker for the afternoon convocation.

Special guests included some 900 representatives of colleges and universities, educational societies and business and government, including more than 40 college presidents.

Thirteen honorary degrees were scheduled for presentation at the afternoon ceremonies.

At the evening dinner, MSC President Dr. John A. Hannah will present 27 distinguished service awards. The college will accept a series of six paintings by Detroit artist John S. Coppin depicting the history of the institution.

Train Derailed; 40 Of 190 Hurt

SAUK CENTRE, Minn. (AP)—All 12 cars of the Western Star, Seattle-Chicago passenger train, were derailed Friday night in subzero cold, injuring 40 of the 190 passengers. None was seriously hurt.

Two passenger cars and two mail cars were tossed onto their sides and most of the cars that remained standing jackknifed to form a zigzag pattern. The two mail cars were tossed about 100 feet from the tracks.

A spokesman for the Great Northern Railway said the wreck apparently was caused by a rail breaking in the 14 below weather near West Union, 10 miles north-west of here.

John Ober, Alexandria, Minn., newspaperman, said eight soldier passengers who were returning from Korea "worked like fiends" freeing others from the upset cars.

Most of the passengers remained inside the cars for protection from the cold until buses came to pick them up.

Fire In Milwaukee Apartment Building Evicts 50 Persons

MILWAUKEE (AP)—About 50 persons, including several children, fled into zero weather Friday night when fire broke out in the basement apartment of a rooming house.

Mrs. Mary Kwapiwzowski, operator of the building, discovered the blaze when she heard two children screaming in the apartment. She took the children from the apartment, telephoned the fire department and notified other residents.

The flames were brought under control by firemen. The cause and the amount of damage were undetermined.

South Feels Sting Of February Freeze; 31 Deaths Reported

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The most widespread cold wave of the winter season clung tight over the Eastern two-thirds of the nation today. Little immediate relief was in prospect.

The Arctic air sent temperatures tumbling from Canada to the Gulf of Mexico and from the Rockies to the Atlantic Coast.

Much of the South got the full sting of the icy blasts.

It was near zero in much of the Southeast—and below zero in some places.

At least 31 deaths were attributed to the cold and snow. Fires also caused several deaths, including 21 men in a Chicago hotel.

Three aged persons in a nurses home in Brownwood, Tex., and a father and three young children in their cottage home in Kennebunk, Maine.

The cold in the South extended from Virginia, which reported six inches of snow in the southwest area, southward through the Carolinas and Georgia and along the Gulf states to Louisiana. Traces of snow were reported in Georgia and Tennessee.

It was near zero in parts of Virginia and Tennessee. The Carolinas, Georgia, Alabama and Mississippi also got the coldest weather of the winter.

It was freezing all the way to the Gulf Coast. Readings were in the 20s in many inland areas only a short distance from the coast.

The snow storms which hit much of the Midwest Thursday, swept into the Eastern third of the nation Friday. Falls measured more than a foot in upstate New York.

Ruined Villages Await Arrival Of Communists

ABOARD AMPHIBIOUS FLAGSHIP ESTES OFF TACHENS (AP)—The rats took over the Tachens today. The twin islands 200 miles north of Formosa are all theirs until the Communists come.

Rats—thousands of them, and some as long as your forearm scurried through the deserted villages as the last evacuation ship pulled away from the mudflats.

Houses Burned Out

More than 25,000 Chinese Nationalist troops and civilians were removed in six days of evacuation under the protective guns, ships and planes of the U. S. 7th Fleet.

Except for the rats, the islands lie deserted—low, brown and scrubby. The scene of teeming activity a week ago and a frenzy of loading operation for six days now appeared like a medieval area where the entire population had packed and fled from a plague.

Fires started by bone-chilled soldiers, waiting their turn to board the ships, had spread to the village and others. Many of the stone houses are burned out hulks.

Elsewhere there are gaping holes in the ground, where Nationalist soldiers blasted their elaborate fortifications. Explosions shook the north island every few minutes during the early morning hours today, showering colored flames and rocking the ships off shore.

No More Fishermen

By daybreak the billowing explosions had ceased and an eerie silence fell over the island. Sea birds dipped low over the island. The early morning tide ebbed for the first time in many centuries with no fishermen sailing with it in search of food.

No heavy incense burned in the Tachen temples. No housewives haggled with merchants at the markets. No one was born there today. No one died. No one laughed. No one cried. The people of the Tachens had left the home of their ancestors.

The islands lie dead and silent until the Communists come to claim them.

JUNK FLEET MASSED

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Red China massed a fleet of armed motorized junks off the Nationalist port island of Matsu today, the Defense Ministry said, in an ominous new threat right on the heels of Chiang Kai-shek's peacelike evaluation of the Tachens with U. S. help.

The appearance of more than 70 armed junks along the China coast near Foochow posed a possible new crisis in the tense Formosa Strait.

Two hundred miles north of Formosa, the Tachen Islands were left devastated and empty.

(In Washington, the State Department announced that U. S. Navy and Air Forces which protected the evacuation of the Tachens "will now resume their normal operations but will be alert to any concentration or employment of Chinese Communist forces obviously undertaking to facilitate attack upon Formosa and will be prepared to take appropriate military action if required.")

Chicago Skid Row Hotel Fire Takes Lives Of 21 Men

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Thirty-one persons lost their lives in fires during the past 24 hours, including 21 men who perished as flames raged through a crowded Skid Row hotel in Chicago.

The Chicago fire in the crowded Barton hotel early today sent 200 persons fleeing into subzero weather. Some of the dead were victims of smoke inhalation and exposure, others were burned beyond immediate identification. Fourteen were hurt, including two firemen.

Shifted To Ionia

OWOSSO (AP)—The Mitchell-Bentley Corp.'s production of automotive trim has been transferred to the company's Ionia plant following the two million dollar fire that destroyed half of its plant in Owosso Thursday night.

The company makes arm rests, seat cushions and other interior trim for the automotive industry.

Soviet 1955 Budget Shows Up No Shift To Heavy Industry

WASHINGTON (AP)—State Department fiscal experts reported a belief today the Russians have made virtually no changes in their economy despite all their talk of a shift back to heavy industry.

This finding is based on careful analysis of the new Soviet budget for the 1955 calendar year. The budget was presented last week to the same Soviet parliamentary session which saw Georgi Malenkov succeeded by Nikolai Bulganin as premier.

Figures Juggled

The budget of 562,900,000,000 rubles exceeds last year's total by 200 million rubles, the lowest increase since World War II. The official exchange rate is four rubles for $1, but the rate varies with the transaction and sometimes goes to 20 for $1.

The U. S. specialists see in the slight increase a sign that Soviet economists are adopting a more realistic attitude, clamping down on any inflationary trends, and juggling figures so as to imply stepped-up defense spending to back up tough talk.

The Russian budget breaks down into four broad categories, with an unexplained fund left over. The four categories are: Cost of running the government; social and cultural programs, such as education; national economy factors like construction of buildings; and direct defense costs such as guns and planes.

Goals Unchanged

Total increases in these four categories came to 12 per cent. But the budget as a whole showed virtually no increase. This meant that the 12 per cent boost came out of the unspecified residual funds.

About half of this unmarked fund provides money for research and development—including nuclear weapons and jet planes.

Despite the Soviet announcement of a new emphasis on heavy industry, which is the basis for a heavy war machine, American experts consider the Kremlin has never abandoned its goals in this field under the five-year plan expiring next December. What has happened, they say, is that during Malenkov's regime some emphasis was placed also on consumer goods.

Peiping Leader Favors Truce

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai says he favors relaxation of tension in the Formosa area—indicating Peiping is keeping the door open for continuing efforts to solve the Far Eastern crisis.

An informed U. N. source reported Friday night.

Chou's stand, the source said, was contained in an oral message to U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld in which the Red Chinese leader again rejected a Security Council bid to talk about a possible Formosa cease-fire.

The Peiping regime first announced its turnaround of the invitation Feb. 4.

The general lines of the message were reported here a few hours after the Security Council was called to meet Monday for a second round of cease-fire discussions.

The source said Chou's statement was in reply to a personal, oral communication relayed from Hammarskjöld through Swedish diplomatic channels. In it, the secretary general reportedly said he thought it would be wise for Red China to accept the Security Council bid, made Jan. 31.

State Will Step Up Reforestation

LANSING (AP)—The State Conservation Commission agreed Friday on a greatly accelerated reforestation program during the next four years.

Under the plan, the state will plant 60,000 acres before the end of fiscal year 1958-59. Plantings have averaged about 5,000 acres annually during recent years.

The program calls for planting 10,000 acres during fiscal year 1955-56, 15,000 acres in 1956-57, 15,000 acres in 1957-58, and 20,000 acres in 1958-59.

A recent inventory revealed some 249,000 acres of state-owned property are plantable.

The Commission also approved purchase of 3,351 acres of land in the Lapeer state game area near Imlay City. Cost of the land is $200,000.

Other land purchases totaling 603 acres and costing $17,875 were also approved by the Commission.

Maybe China Reds Don't Want War With U. S. A.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Faint official hopes for a cease-fire between Communist and Nationalist China were encouraged today by the fact that the Red Chinese refrained from making trouble during evacuation of the Tachen Islands.

State Department experts said it would be unwise to read too much significance into the Communist conduct, however, since the Reds by their inaction stood to gain possession of the islands without firing a shot in assault.

Shift To Diplomacy?

What had been feared most here was that the Reds, despite the risks involved, might try to make a limited show of force to embarrass the United States with loss of ships or planes or personnel.

No Relief Yet In Bone-Chiller

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Michigan's weather is going to get colder yet.

That's the latest word from U. S. forecasters, who say snow flurries will continue through tonight.

Sunday, they say, will be "not so cold." But at that they don't expect thermometers to get above 20 anywhere and generally to stay below that level tomorrow.

The bone-chilling cold wave then moved in Thursday banged thermometers below zero in scattered Michigan areas again Friday night.

The State Highway Department reported winds drifting snow onto trunklines over most of the state today and warned motorists to drive with caution.

The fact they did not do so tended to harden the beliefs of those who contend the Communist powers do not want war with the United States, and that they will back down when confronted with a real show of force.

How much bearing this has on China's future conduct is speculative. But it has led some officials to strengthen their belief that sooner or later the Communists will accept as beyond question the Chinese Nationalist control of Formosa and will concentrate their efforts to obtain the Nationalist held coastal islands through peaceful diplomacy.

Risk Too Great

Chairman George (D-Ga) and Sens. Knowland (R-Calif) and Mansfield (D-Mont) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee said in interviews, however, they saw no change in long-range Communist goals. George said the Reds wanted to take over the Tachens without cost.

Rate Hearing To Open Monday

John H. McCarthy, chairman of the Michigan Public Service Commission, will preside at a power rate hearing which will open at 9:30 a. m. Monday in the Court House at Escanaba on petition of the Upper Michigan Power & Light Company, subsidiary of the Mead Corporation.

The Power & Light Company has applied to the Public Service Commission for an increase in the electric rates charged the City of Escanaba by the company. The company contends that it is losing money under the rate contract and that the contract, which does not expire until Aug. 1, 1959, is invalid.

The Public Service Commission has announced that the hearing will not be confined solely to an examination of the rates charged to Escanaba, but will cover "all phases and all costs and all revenues in the entire territory" served by the Power & Light Company. The entire unit must be considered in determining the "reasonableness or the unreasonableness of any existing rates or any proposed rates."

Atty. J. Joseph Herbert of Manistique is counsel for the Upper Michigan Power & Light Company. The city of Escanaba will be represented at the hearing by City Attorney Denis McGinn.

The city has challenged the Commission's jurisdiction in fixing electric rates in Escanaba and has moved for a rehearing on the matter of jurisdiction. A ruling on this motion is scheduled for Monday.

The Power & Light Company is expected to submit the proofs in its case on Monday, and the hearing is then expected to be adjourned to provide the city the opportunity to prepare answers and submit its case at a later date.

Doctor Sues Allegan Health Center; Claims He Was Squeezed Out

ALLEGAN — Circuit Judge Raymond L. Smith took under advisement Wednesday a technical motion in a doctor's suit to require the Allegan Health Center to permit him to practice there.

Dr. William A. Kopprasch claims he is the victim of a conspiracy by doctors and hospital authorities.

Craig Davids, blind Grand Rapids attorney for Dr. Kopprasch, called the motion before Judge Smith "a delaying tactic." The motion seeks to stop service of process on directors of the health center.

The Michigan and Allegan County medical societies, Michigan Hospital Assn. and Allegan Health Center directors are named defendants.

J. Joseph Herbert of Manistique, chairman of the board of regents of the University of Michigan, represented the state medical society in trial of the suit.

Dr. Kopprasch, who obtained medical training at Loyola University, Chicago, came to Allegan in 1924 as superintendent of former John Robinson Hospital here.

He says in his suit he testified against Allegan County doctors in insurance cases and, in 1943, his license was revoked for using the mails to send narcotics to a dying patient.

The real reason his license was revoked, Dr. Kopprasch claims, was action he had taken in insurance cases.

His license was reinstated in 1948, at which time he applied for readmission to the state and county medical societies and was refused.

He claims he was therefore not permitted to practice at the Allegan Health Center and contends defendants have "connived and confederated and conspired" to bar him from the center.

An honest politician keeps cool by sticking to cold facts.

Bids for razing the building are being asked by March 15. Erling Arntzen, Escanaba contractor, will construct the new building.

Arrangements for tenants have not yet been completed but the building will be erected to provide for two tenancies.

Mr. Papadakis is selling his home in Merrill and it is likely that he will move to Escanaba. The property is in joint ownership with his wife, Katherine.

January Busy For Red Cross

The Delta County Chapter of the American Red Cross had a busy month again in January, it was reported today by Mrs. Betty Hamilton, executive secretary, and Mrs. Irene Hogan, home service secretary. As usual, a large part of the activities involved services to members of the armed forces and their families.

As an example of the extent to which Delta County residents are availing themselves of local chapter services, Mrs. Hamilton and Mrs. Hogan pointed out the following as being part of the month's program:

Verification of leave or extension of leave for servicemen where an emergency existed or home conditions warranted 15 cases.

Varied Reports
Reports for military organizations, Veterans Administration, servicemen, veterans, and their families. These included eight cases where the military services requested social histories of members of the armed forces, where families had not heard from servicemen, or where servicemen had not heard from families. Included also were three social histories and guardianship reports for the Veterans Administration.

Assistance in obtaining compensation, pension, insurance or allotment forms, two veterans were helped in filing pension claims and one veteran for hospitalization.

Financial assistance from chapter funds. Nine servicemen or their families were given assistance from chapter funds. These included amounts for basic maintenance pending receipt of allotments, emergency needs of wives and children of servicemen, and assistance for maintenance and transportation of servicemen, amounting in total to $325.08.

Aid to Veteran
One veteran also received an amount for basic maintenance while his application for veteran's pension is pending. An amount of $45 was received in repayment of loans made from chapter funds.

Counseling in personal and family problems. Such counsel was given to five servicemen, three veterans and one non-veteran. In addition to the above, requests were handled for information regarding nineteen veterans and twenty-on non-veterans.

Three wheel chairs were loaned out in January.

World Briefs

FRANKFURT, Germany — Health authorities said that 27 persons have died in the month-old influenza epidemic in West Germany. The outbreak has closed more than 500 schools.

JAKARTA, Indonesia — Uranium has been found in the mountains of Borneo, a government geological department official announced.

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica — Police say that several unexploded bombs have been found in the past few days in this country, which only recently put down a rebellion. They don't know who has been planting them.

MONTREAL — Lucien Picard, a jobless Montreal machinist, was hanged early Friday for killing 6-year-old Raymond Trudeau and dismembering his body. Police officials termed the murder one of the most gruesome they had ever seen.

MUNICH — Radio Free Europe says it will launch balloons over the Iron Curtain carrying a million messages from the Fraternal Order of Eagles in the United States.

The Eagles' message to the Soviet bloc population will say in part:

"We believe with you that a day of liberation will come when all free men can meet as brothers. We believe with you that no tyrant can rule men's lives forever... as the days pass, hear and know that you are not alone. We are your friends."

ROME — The United States has agreed to give Italy 53 million dollars to boost Trieste's economy and to help the Italian government raise living standards in southern Italy.

FIRST AERIAL BOMBS
The Austrian army used the first aerial bombs in 1849, when small bombs, attached to balloons, were allowed to drift over the city of Venice, Italy, doing little harm, but badly scaring the Venetians.

NOW RETIRED—Adam Schwartz of 309 S. 13th St., an employee of the Escanaba Paper Company for almost 35 years, has retired on pension and at the present time is touring in Florida in company with Erick Anderson of 827 Washington Ave. He was chief oiler at the plant for many years. His retirement was effective Jan. 1. Fellow employees presented him with a farewell gift of a wallet and money, and the Mead Corporation's framed certificate of appreciation was presented to him by George Douglas, division manager. At its January meeting the Supervisor's Club at the Escanaba Paper Company plant presented him with a fine wrist watch. Mr. and Mrs. Schwartz will continue to reside in Escanaba, where he will have more opportunity to pursue his hobbies of hunting and fishing. His other hobby is his large flower and vegetable garden at the Schwartz home.

Smoking Damages Heart Muscle, AMA Journal Reports

CHICAGO — There appears definite evidence, says the Journal of the American Medical Assn. that smoking can damage the heart muscle.

An editorial in the AMA Journal published Thursday said: "There seems now to be definite evidence that smoking, even though it may not directly affect the coronary arteries, can have a damaging effect on the myocardium (muscular part of the heart wall)."

"No patient with coronary disease should incur the added risk to his heart imposed by smoking without first discussing thoroughly the problem with his physician." In New York, the chairman of the tobacco industry research committee commented that his group is "convinced the vast majority of the American public agrees that all questions of tobacco in relation to human health need much more thorough and complete investigation than has been made up to now."

The chairman, Timothy V. Hartnett, said the committee, organized and financed by large tobacco companies, is continuing research into the tobacco-health relationship.

Two other articles in the magazine also discussed the effects of smoking on the heart.

Michigan State College Will Be Honored Today

EAST LANSING—Michigan State College will receive tribute from people over the free world today.

The occasion will be the 100th anniversary of M. S. C., founded Feb. 12, 1855 as the nation's first agricultural college and the forerunner of the American Land-Grant college system.

Issuance of a special U. S. stamp, an address by Dr. James B. Conant and presentation of 13 honorary degrees and 27 Centennial Awards will be highlights of the day, formally opening M. S. C.'s Centennial year.

Special guests will include 900 representatives of colleges and universities, educational societies, business and government from over the world. Nearly every state in the nation will be represented. Among the guests will be 40 college presidents from the United States and a number of foreign countries.

The Founders' Day Convocation, at 3 p. m., will be broadcast by the Mutual Broadcasting System and by WKAR, the M. S. C. radio station and by WJR Detroit. The network broadcast will carry the Founders' Day address from 4 to 4:30 p. m. (EST), while WKAR will carry the complete program, beginning at 3 p. m. (EST). Dr. Conant, who will give the address, is U. S. High Commissioner for Germany and president-emeritus of Harvard University.

Three Major Events
The first of three major events during the day will be at 10:30 a. m. in the East Lounge of Brody Hall. Albert J. Robertson, assistant U. S. Postmaster General, will formally present the new three-cent stamp which jointly honors Michigan State and Pennsylvania State University as the first of the Land-Grant colleges. Souvenir albums of the stamps will be presented to President Dwight D. Eisenhower the governors of Michigan and Pennsylvania and to the heads of the two honored institutions: Dr. Milton E. Eisenhower, president of Penn State, and Dr. John A. Hannah, president of M. S. C. Among the guests at the stamp program will be heads of national stamp societies and civic and postal officials. The first-day issue of the stamp will be the same day in East Lansing.

The formal Founders' Day Convocation at 3 p. m. in the M. S. C. Auditorium will feature Dr. Conant's address, "An Old Tradition in a New World." The honorary degrees will be conferred by President Hannah.

Centennial Awards
The special Centennial Awards will be presented by President Hannah at a 7 p. m. Awards Banquet in Brody Hall. During the program a series of paintings depicting M. S. C.'s history will be presented to the college by the 1955 Wolverine student yearbook which commissioned the six paintings by artist John S. Coplin.

Other Centennial Awards will be presented at future events during the Centennial year.

In addition to being Michigan State's 100th anniversary, Feb. 12 also marks two other events—Lincoln's birthday and the beginning of Founders' Month.

As President of the U. S. in 1862, Lincoln signed the Morrill Act which created the national system of Land-Grant colleges and universities on the Michigan State College pattern.

Founders' Month, to continue through March 12 will be observed by the 107 Michigan State College alumni clubs throughout the country. Government and community leaders over the nation will join with the clubs in sponsoring special programs in observance of the Centennial year.

Students Restore Old Farm Residence

LEXINGTON, Va. — Bruce McCorkle, a farmer here, thinks he is lucky that Washington and Lee University has a class in American art and architecture.

A 1790 home, fairly well preserved but showing the marks of its 164 years, stands on the McCorkle farm. The students are restoring it, doing all the work themselves under direction of Professor Marshall Fishwick. They found no evidence of decay or termites in the hand-wrought cedar beams or solid 18-inch brick walls.

Seven of the nine men taking the examination for the position of city controller are from Escanaba. The applicants are:

Lloyd H. Peltier, G. F. Bourke, August Brazeau, Clark L. Cuthbert, James F. Anzalone, Roy G. Olson and Conrad A. Finstrom, all of Escanaba; Atty. William F. Hanna of Muskegon Heights, Mich.; and Robert C. Burgett of Grand Rapids.

The salary range for the position of city controller is from $422 to $533 per month. The controller heads the city department of finance.

The oral part of the examination will be given later, with City Manager A. V. Aronson attending as an observer.

Flashy Color Hits Boating Industry

CHICAGO — If the little woman happens to visit the Chicago Boat Show, you may wind up with a chartreuse and valencia orange runabout.

Or maybe a sleek brilliantly-stained african mahogany hull job with a glacier white orlon landau top.

Or perhaps she'll want to liven up the family scow with a two-tone outboard motor which will make the fishes blink.

Color, ship-mates, has hit the boating industry, even as it has wrapped a rainbow around the automotive business.

Follow Auto Trend

Bob Lutz, a spokesman for one manufacturer (Century) admitted boating people saw the success of the automotive industry in splurging for eye appeal in the trend to bright color and glamour in full nautical swing.

Lutz presides at the display of three of his company's "style" leaders two inboards and an outboard, running from 15 to 20 feet in overall length.

They're real breath-takers with strutting interior designs, tinted wrap-around windshields and rakish hull lines. "That styling gets them," Lutz said. "We've sold 15 boats the first four days of the show."

In all, the Chicago show which continues through Sunday, is displaying 34 of these inboard sport-stunning interior designs, tinted

Real Flashy

One that gets a lot of "oh's" and "ah's" is a coral and grey beauty with two great fins in the style of the latest big cars. It's called the "Barracuda." No question about it, the feminine influence has brightened boating. You can even get a pair of polka-dotted water skis.

One of the exhibits attracting great crowds is a 24-foot, steel-hulled houseboat. It has a tall 8 by 13 foot cabin, an 8 by 8 sun-deck (this is handy for fishing purposes), and a 3 by 8 aft deck serving for operation of outboard motors. It'll run $1,995 f.o.b.

Safety Rule Listed For Slippery Roads

CHICAGO — How fast is it safe to drive on ice or snow? The National Safety Council says that to provide the same stopping available on dry pavement at 50 miles an hour:

Speed on ice must not be greater than 25 mph with reinforced tire chains or 15 mph with special winter tires.

Memory Of Abraham Lincoln Is Revered Throughout World

ABRAHAM Lincoln is one of the few great men of American life whose appeal is almost world-wide. Long ago his fame went out beyond our own shores, and its luster has not been dimmed by time.

In a sense, perhaps we should be chagrined that Europeans and Asians and others find so little to cherish in American history, indeed that most of them know so little of the exciting fabric of our history.

This great deficiency is a fact, and it reflects sadly on the pretensions of some peoples to a kind of aged-in-the-wood maturity. For, young and brash though America may be in comparison with many lands, it is a place of consummate importance to all the world in this era. And there can be no maturity that does not embrace an understanding of our country and its history.

Try And Stop Me By BENNETT CERF

Mrs. Smith, her arms filled with groceries, boarded the bus, followed by her 6-year-old daughter, who carefully dropped the fares into the coin box. "I'm paying the fares today," she explained in a voice that carried to the very back of the bus, "cause Mom is loaded."

"I hope, my little man," said the pastor with an indulgent pat, "that you say your prayers every night."

"Not every night," admitted young Peter. "Some nights I don't want anything."

"In times of trial," boomed the visiting pastor, "what brings us the greatest comfort?"

From the rear of the church came the Still, we should be eternally thankful that of all our revered historic figures, the world has fastened upon Abraham Lincoln as the man most deserving of their esteem and even devotion.

Because Lincoln in his rich individuality, in his stark simplicity, embodied most of the elements which have made America the great and unique place it is.

In this plain man from Illinois was the raw stuff of the frontier which has done so much to shape American ways. In him, too, was the flavor of the earth, a thing that could be sensed by plain, earthy folk anywhere around the globe.

For all his rough exterior, the chisel markings on his face were those of greatness. There were written the resolution needed for the hard decisions that kept a great, growing country from being torn apart; and the deep compassion this man felt for all who suffered in the nation's ordeal.

This compassion, mirrored in the sad, deep-set eyes, is most likely the universal element in Lincoln's appeal. Here was a man who unmistakably cared deeply for humanity. The intensity of his concern shone through for all to see.

But it is not only the look of him that tells this story. Among Lincoln's rare gifts was his almost innate mastery of the art of using words. Whether he wrote or spoke, the words that poured forth lent fierce power to his convictions and put the glow of simple honesty about his gestures of compassion.

Any who heard or read his words when Lincoln lived, or who read them now, must feel instantly elevated in the human scale. For at the core of what he said was his unending appreciation of the dignity and sanctity of the human individual.

That was Lincoln's secret, if a thing can be a secret when it is obvious to all his grateful fellow men.

LOWDOWN ON RUSSIAN CHANGES (Milwaukee Journal)

In the Feb. 22 issue of Look magazine which was delivered Feb. 8 we found the key to these baffling shifts of personnel in Russia.

Budu Svanidze, a nephew of the late Joseph Stalin (Budu's father was a brother of Stalin's first wife), says that, at a party he (Budu) once attended at "Uncle Joe's," Malenkov met Elena Khrushchev (sister of Nikita) and fell for her. They later got married and thereafter "were on notoriously bad terms."

So, maybe this is all just a family affair: Khrushchev demoting brother-in-law Malenkov from the premiership to a deputy premiership, because Malenkov is mean to Khrushchev's sister.

Well, if you don't like this explanation, let's hear yours.

Jesus The Giver Of Life

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.

When Jesus spoke of His earthly mission He defined it in various ways. To Pilate He said (John 18:37), that He was born and came into the world "to bear witness unto the truth." He said, in the story of His bringing salvation to Zachaeus (Luke 19: 10), that He had "come to seek and to save that which was lost." In the interview with the Woman of Samaria, at Jacob's Well (John 4), when the woman spoke of the Messiah, Jesus said: "I that speak unto thee am He."

But the great, all-inclusive mission of Jesus was as Life-Giver.

Speaking of Himself as the Good Shepherd, caring for the sheep, even to the giving of His life for them, and in contrast with those who sought to steal, kill, and destroy, Jesus said: "I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly." (John 10).

It is as the great Life-Giver that Jesus stands in contrast with the worldly great. Life-taking, in manifold ways is the appalling and terrible record of life on earth since man began.

Recently, I have been renewing a slight acquaintance with ancient history, particularly of Greece and Rome. An outstanding impression is of the almost constant warfare; ambitious strife between leaders, war and rivalry between small states and regions until they were all ultimately destroyed.

And it was the same in the early history of the British Isles, and in the Middle Ages; with small European states in almost constant warfare and rivalry.

Here, too, all romantic notions of chivalry and humanity receive a rude shock in the grim post-battle picture of the general butchery of the wounded on the field of battle.

One can hardly exaggerate the blackness and horror of it all; and yet in our own 20th century it has been capped with the greatest destruction of all; with even the products of our supposed progress utilized for the planned murder of millions.

In such a world there might seem irony in a Man of Light and Power declaring that His mission in the world was to save life, and to enlarge its blessings.

But there is no irony in the outcome. In this world of evil and darkness, Jesus of Nazareth has brought life to millions. Above all, His mission of life-saving goes on with its supreme challenge to the powers of destruction.

In the beginning of His earthly mission Jesus made disciples, and to these He gave the great commission (Matthew 28:19, 20), to go into all the world and make disciples. From these a life-giving stream has flowed to mankind.

Even in a physical sense life-saving forces today are arrayed against life-destroying forces as never before. Medical science, sanitation, good-health agencies, are at work in a world strangely mixed in its actions and motivations.

But spiritually, and in the sense that Jesus came to give life, the forces of life-taking and destruction are challenged as never before. For the first time in history, if half of what the scientists tell is true, man has the power to wipe out life on earth.

Against that possible suicide, the only alternative is the life-saving power of the Christ.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—What a golden opportunity the spokesmen of the free world have missed in the last 24 hours! Instead of public expressions that fluctuate between fear over whether a "tougher" Soviet policy is in prospect or whether the road is open to more appeasement, the governmental leaders on this side of the Iron Curtain could well have drawn attention to the plight of the Soviet peoples and to measures that some day can bring their liberation.

For the whole world has been witness to the operations of a totalitarian regime which is worse than any of the despotic monarchies of the past.

Quite incidentally—it arose out of a reminiscence by the President of a talk he had in 1945 with Marshal Zhukov, the new minister of defense in the Moscow government—Mr. Eisenhower told his press conference Wednesday how he had described to Zhukov the operation of a free government. The President said:

"Now, I explained to him (Zhukov) how absolutely impossible it was for a democracy to organize a surprise aggression against anybody. Our processes are open. Every time you get money or you change anything in your military affairs, you go to Congress. It is debated. There is no possibility of a country such as ours producing a completely surprise attack on any other. And that is what I was emphasizing to him."

CRISIS IN FOOD

This very week, however, Malenkov was forced out by a little group of men who imposed a premier without consulting the 200 million people of Soviet Russia.

Everybody knows that the main crisis inside the Soviet Union today is the lack of food production. Yet the United States has millions of bushels of grain and foodstuffs stored in warehouses, and this surplus could be an instrument of good will more powerful than words. It will be recalled that when the East German food riots were under way two years ago, President Eisenhower offered food packages. It was a master stroke in good relations with the people of eastern Europe.

Today the United States, with an abundance of food, is able to help out the peoples of Soviet Russia and the satellite states, all of which are undernourished because of the restricted food supply. The people on the mainland of China desperately need rice, as their government at Peiping has been exporting this commodity so as to buy rubber from Ceylon.

If the United States offered the Soviet and Chinese peoples a chance to solve their agricultural problems with farm machinery and promised them, in the meantime, foodstuffs out of the surpluses available here, the way would be opened to the hearts of the tens of millions of persons behind the Iron Curtain.

ROAD TO PEACE

For the road to peace lies in awakening the peoples in Soviet Russia and the satellite states to the fact that they need not remain enslaved indefinitely and that economic help will be forthcoming if they will only establish free governments which the rest of the world could trust. The billions of dollars now being spent in preparations for war could in large part be used to give a new life to the people of Soviet Russia and the oppressed peoples of the neighboring states.

Just a few hours after the news of the dismissal of Malenkov became known to the world, President Eisenhower was broadcasting over what is known as a "closed television circuit" to 35 meetings throughout the United States where funds were being raised to support "Radio Free Europe." This is a private organization in which the former undersecretary of state, Walter Bedell Smith, now is playing a prominent part. In Mr. Eisenhower's address there were two pertinent paragraphs:

"While we maintain our vigilance at home and abroad, we must help intensify the will for freedom in the satellite countries behind the Iron Curtain. These countries are in the Soviet back yard, and only so long as their people are reminded that the outside world has not forgotten them—only that long do they remain as potential deterrents to Soviet aggression.

"The great majority of the 70 million captives in these satellite countries have known liberty in the past. They now need our constant friendship and help if they are to believe in their future."

Here was the first word of encouragement to be issued in a long time to some of the peoples behind the Iron Curtain. Back in 1952, during the presidential campaign, there were speeches about "liberation," but the Communists abroad managed to persuade timid persons in Britain and America that, of course, a policy of "liberation" by American arms was being planned. As a result of such pressure, the idea has been soft-pedaled, so now it is significant that President Eisenhower has boldly proclaimed a revival of hope for the oppressed and enslaved peoples. That's very good psychological strategy, and, if it were accompanied now by concrete pledges of aid with food, it would contribute much toward an eventual uprising by the peoples throughout the Iron Curtain territory.

A quick way to happiness—learn to enjoy the things you don't think you like.

Into The Past

10 YEARS AGO

Wilson—Pic. Everett Smith, of Wilson, now held prisoner of war in a small village in Germany, writes an interesting account of his experience.

Red Agents Busy Stirring Up Revolt Of 40,000,000 Arabs

By LEON DENNEN

NEA Staff Correspondent

ISTANBUL, Turkey—(NEA)—In all of the Middle East's 2,000,000 square miles of strategic, oil-rich land we have only two staunch friends, Turkey and Israel.

We may need them badly before this critical year is ended, for Russian agents are busy stirring dissension and revolt among 40,000,000 Arabs. Only a miracle can prevent an explosion this year.

I have just finished a survey of the area. In visits to Egypt, Cyprus, Israel, Lebanon and Turkey I talked with peasants, politicians, artists, businessmen, revolutionaries and high government officials.

This correspondent came away with these conclusions:

1. Revolt against feudal slavery, hunger, poverty and disease may come at any time. Social and economic unrest make the area especially vulnerable to Red propaganda.

2. Barring a drastic change in existing conditions, not a single Arab population would come to the aid of the West in the event of armed conflict with Russia.

3. Everywhere the consensus of qualified Middle Eastern observers was: The Soviet rulers—having suffered a slight diplomatic setback in the West—are preparing a series of explosions in the Arab states.

The two notable exceptions in this otherwise dark picture, Turkey and Israel, are pro-Western—certainly pro-U.S. Both Turkey and Israel have strong, well-trained and dependable armies ready to fight should the Reds attack.

However, Turkey is in the midst of a serious economic crisis. The Turks also are strongly opposed to becoming involved in "Arab intrigues," despite their pact with Pakistan which in view of the State Department is to serve as cornerstone for a Middle Eastern defense system.

Turkey has kept aloof from the sinister machinations of Arab politicians ever since Kemal Ataturk—the founder of modern Turkey—"turned his back on the Arab world." He called the Arabs the cause of "Turkey's misfortune."

Israel is in a similar difficult situation with the Arabs. The youngest republic in history, Israel is indeed a modern miracle.

The leaders of Israel, in five short years, have succeeded in creating a disciplined pro-Western and industrialized state which could serve as a spring-board for the development of the backward Middle Eastern areas.

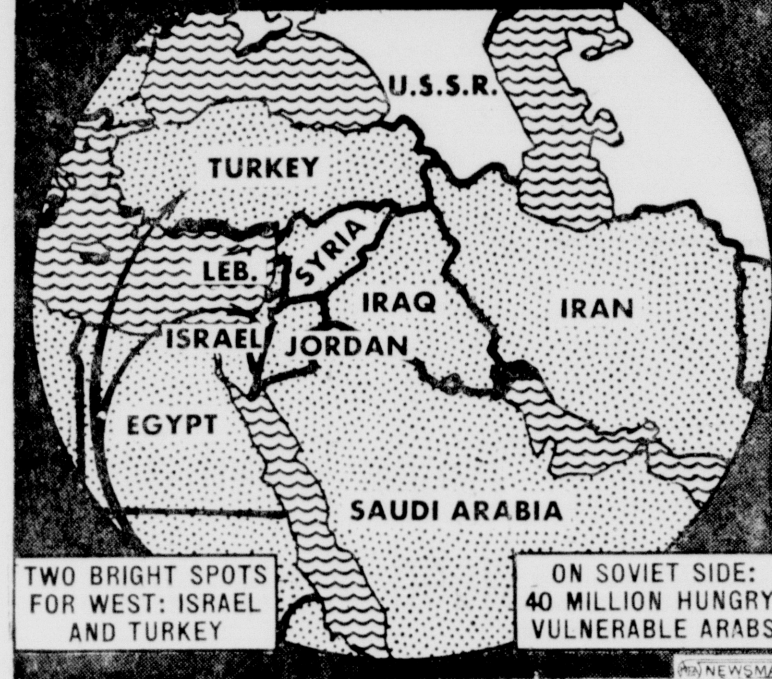

The young state is clearly destined to play an increasingly important role in the Middle East.

However, Israel is still surrounded by a wall of Arab hostility. The U.S. and the NATO powers—obviously in an effort to win over the Arab politicians—have as yet been unable or unwilling to help crack this wall.

It is difficult to realize the tense atmosphere which exists in the Holy Land—particularly along the ill-defined frontier with Jordan.

Most of the frontier settlements are garrisoned by companies of young Israeli boys and girls and at night the whole area looks like an outpost in the last war, with houses barricaded and sentries posted.

FOCUS ON THE MIDDLE EAST as Moscow Sees It

Arab raids are countered by swift-striking Jewish patrols.

In the spectacular development of Israel the army thus plays a far greater part than is usual in a modern industrial country—especially in a young and tiny country. The reason for this is clear: the citizens of Israel have always at the back of their minds the threat of another Arab offensive.

The Arab economic blockade is virtually strangling the young state. The ordinary Israeli—literally fighting with his back to the Mediterranean Sea—is particularly bitter at the U.S. decision to send arms to the Arab states. He is convinced that the arms will eventually be used not to fight the Reds but to attack Israel.

Resettlement of the 900,000 Arab refugees camping on Israel's borders and peace between Israel and the Arab states is what the U.S. will have to strive for in 1955 — if the Middle East is not to be a fertile field for Red propaganda.

Every day new attempts are made by the Kremlin to cement economic and cultural ties between Russia and the Arab states.

Soviet Moslem pilgrims recently went to Mecca and Red trade organizations sent exhibits to fairs in Izmir, Turkey, and Damascus, Syria. In return, delegations from all Arab countries, including for the first time Saudi Arabia and Yemen, attended Moscow's agricultural exhibition.

Agents are especially active in Syria and Lebanon. The only official Pravda correspondent in the Middle East, Barzenko, is stationed at Damascus. Syrian and Lebanese delegates attended last year's Red "peace" congresses at Budapest and Vienna, where most Syrian deputies signed a Communist-sponsored peace petition.

This activity undoubtedly accounts for the fact no Arab state has accepted a U.S. bid to join in a Middle East military alliance.

There will be many more revolutions in Costa Rica, until (President) Figueres is finally driven out.—Costa Rica's former President Teodoro Picado.

Without our strong organic chemical industry, Germany would have won World War II.—Edgar Queen, board chairman, Monsanto Chemical Co.

Force is not the solution of this delicate and difficult problem (Formosa situation). A settlement can only be arrived at by the peaceful process of negotiation.—Britain's Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden.

It was the lack of resolute action that cinched Communist victories in Czechoslovakia and China and cost us victory in Korea and Indo-China.—Seaborn Collins, national commander, American Legion.

Self-preservation certainly has not been annulled.—Rear Adm. Stanhope Ring, commander, Task Force 77, on why his pilots will strike back if attacked by Reds.

Edson In Washington

By PETER EDSON

(NEA Washington Correspondent) WASHINGTON—(NEA) — Fears that free, southern Viet Nam will sooner or later fall into the hands of the Communists have been quieted somewhat by the return to Washington of Gen. J. Lawton Collins, President Eisenhower's personal ambassador.

The increased tension over Formosa is not expected to have any effect on Indo-China, but the situation there is still touch-and-go. There is uncertainty as to how the French will end up in their efforts to retain their interests in southern Viet Nam and at the same time maintain commercial relations with northern, Communist Viet Minh. There is almost a complete lack of accurate information or what goes on in the northern area.

Nothing is at all firm on the 1956 elections called for by the Geneva cease-fire agreement, to settle the future of the country. There is no definition of who can vote or what for. It is entirely possible that northern and southern areas may vote on entirely different questions.

Or there may be no elections at all, as in Korea and Germany.

Population estimates of 13 million people in the north and 12 million in the south are not considered reliable.

ALSO, THE FLIGHT OF OVER 500,000 refugees from Communist Viet Minh to free Viet Nam has altered the population balance. The number of refugees may reach 800,000. All of them have seen Communist control first hand. They are the best possible evidence to make the people vote against Communism in any free election.

The number of natives from former Communist-controlled areas in southern Viet Nam who have requested resettlement in northern Viet Minh territory is now said to be only 15.

The United States is having to finance resettlement of refugees in the south. Over $28 million has already been allocated by Foreign Operations Administration for this purpose.

What gives most encouragement to the American point of view is apparent acceptance of an agreement that the Viet Nam army will be trained by some 350 U. S. officers in the MAG, or Military Assistance Group under Lt. Gen. John Wilson (Iron Mike) O'Daniel. General Collins is expected to take back to Indo-China a go-ahead on this program.

THE VIET NAM GOVERNMENT itself has proposed a reduction of its army from the 217,000 of Jan. 1 to about half this number. This force would be supplemented by four light French divisions. Gen. Paul Ely of France would be in command of both forces and the training would be under his direction.

The U. S. MAG would have to use some French and possibly Filipino instructors. What is planned is a force like the Philippine Constabulary which, under President Magsaysay, so effectively crushed the Hukbalahap Communists in the Philippine islands.

There is a surplus of military equipment left over from fighting days in Indo-China. Additional U. S. costs for military assistance are therefore estimated in reduced amounts. Economic aid is another story. It will be required in volume.

Unfortunately there is no strong leader like President Magsaysay to lead the new southern Viet Nam state. Emperor Bao Dai is still regarded as a figurehead with no following, and better for his country while in France than at home.

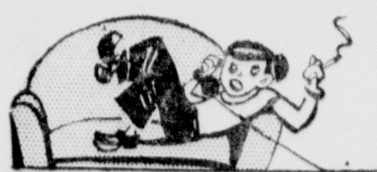

NGO DINH DIEM, Viet Namese premier is a shy little scholar who does not know how to sell himself to his people, but is said to be learning. He has closed down the gambling houses which were the curse of the country. They were run by the two religious sects that also control the brothels. The premier has not yet reformed his people.

The government now has its own national bank and controls its foreign trade. It has a land reform program. This involves suspension of taxes for three years. There is no rent the first year, quarter rent the second, half rent the third with an option for the tenants to become landowners.

It is regarded as impossible for the southern area to raise larger forces than the north. If the south maintains 10 divisions with French and American aid, the north will have 20.

Main reliance for southern Viet Nam defense depends, of course, upon the Manila pact countries. If they mean business, there is believed to be a long chance that a free Viet Nam can be salvaged. If not, write it off now.

Group Leaving For East Lansing

Their interest in traffic safety and their qualities of leadership have won trips to East Lansing for 14 Upper Peninsula high school pupils.

Chosen at seven area conferences by votes by their fellow students, the 14 will participate next week in Michigan's second annual Teen-Age Driver Safety Conference on the campus of Michigan State College. The area conferences were sponsored by the seven daily newspapers in the Upper Peninsula — The Marquette Mining Journal, Iron Mountain News, Escanaba Daily Press, Ironwood Daily Globe, Houghton Mining Gazette, Menominee Herald-Leader and the Sault Evening News. Conferences were held in the cities in which those papers are published.

The delegation of 14 Upper Peninsula pupils, whose pictures accompany this article, will be joined by more than 100 students from the Lower Peninsula when the two-day session opens Friday. Purpose of the state-wide meeting is to draft resolutions proposed by the teen-agers with an eye toward improving the teenage driving problem in Michigan. The teeners also will act on resolutions passed at the area conferences held throughout the state.

In the Upper Peninsula, the teen-age driving program has been financed entirely by the Upper Peninsula State Fair Board. Last summer, Northern Michigan students who participated in the traffic program were guests of the fair board for one day during the fair in Escanaba.

On the state level, the East Lansing meeting is sponsored jointly by the Michigan State Safety Commission and the Michigan Youth Advisory Council.

WOULD YOU FIND THE RIGHT DEFENSE?

South used an excellent line of play in the following hand—but it could have been nipped in the bud.

South dealer.
East-West vulnerable.

♠ Q 4 3	♥ K 7 5	♦ 6 2	♣ Q 10 4 3 2
♠ K J 6 5	♥ Q J 9	♦ J 9 8 4	♣ 7 5
♠ A 9 2	♥ 3	♦ A K Q 7	♣ A K J 9 6

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
2♠	Pass	3♠	Pass
3♠	Pass	4♠	Pass
6♠	Pass	Pass	Pass

West considered opening a spade but decided that there was less danger and equal attacking value in the queen of hearts. Dummy played low and East played the encouraging eight. West then led the heart jack. Dummy ducked again and South ruffed with the club king.

Now declarer led a trump to the ten, ruffed the heart king and carefully cashed the ace of spades (Vienna Coup). His next move was to cash his own ace of trumps; then he overtook the club jack with the queen and played dummy's two remaining trumps, discarding his deuce and nine of spades.

The lead of dummy's last trump put West to rout. Obviously obliged to hold the spade king against dummy's queen, he had to give up a diamond, and South took the last four, fulfilling tricks in diamonds.

It is interesting to note that if West had analyzed the situation very shrewdly, with particular reference to South's bidding and the precise trumps in dummy, he might have forestalled South's plan of play. It was highly improbable that South (an expert) had bid the slam with two worthless hearts in his hand; thus, the heart continuation was almost certain to be futile. If West had shifted to trumps (or even diamonds) after the first lead, South would not have been able to make the contract—he would have lacked "transportation" from hand to hand.

Casual Basics Are Versatile

By GAILE DUGAS

NEA Women's Editor
NEW YORK (NEA)—Suburban living has, in the last few years, developed fashions all its own. These are the easy, casual clothes that are exactly right for an informal, country kind of life.

Though they originated in suburbia and spend most of the time there, such fashions make an appearance in town from time to time. They must be adaptable, therefore, and take readily to polished calf pumps, short white gloves and a generally neat look.

We show here two such designs, both right for suburban living and for a day in town. Shirt-jacket and skirt in a new, suiting weight lanella (left) are washable. The fabric is 50 per cent Australian worsted wool and 50 per cent Egyptian cotton. The shirt-jacket can be worn belted in or outside the skirt (with a belt) to create a jacket look.

Classically simple dress in this same fabric (right) has gray and gold stripe. Bodice has five-button, shirt-front opening and three-quarter sleeves.

Ocean-Going Steel Boat, 60 Feet Long, Will Be Built In Escanaba By Vinette Company

WITH CRUISING ACCOMMODATIONS—The naval architect's profile drawing of the 60-foot all steel boat now being built by T. D. Vinette Company in Escanaba indicates the size of the craft—a tug with cruising accommodations. It is being built for Capt. Frank Becker, Detroit marine company official, who plans to use it in towing for a couple years and then retire to pilot the Escanaba built vessel on ocean cruises.

Long known as a port city with important marine traffic, Escanaba is now on its way to recognition as the home of a ship building industry — the T. D. Vinette Company, 2201 6th Ave. N., in whose shop a 60-foot all steel boat is now under construction.

Believed to be the largest boat ever built in Escanaba, the 60-footer is for Capt. Frank Becker of Detroit, president of the Becker Towing Company, and member of an old Great Lakes marine family of ship and tug boat captains. Capt. Becker knows his boats — and boat builders. His choice of the Vinette Company to construct his boat designed by John Peterson, Toledo naval architect, is considered a compliment to one of Escanaba's newer industries.

Dale Vinette, president of the Vinette Company, which was established here in 1947, said the 60-foot craft is of the ship class and design. It will have a beam of 16½ feet and a six foot six inch draft.

Fitted For Cruising

"This is the largest boat we have ever built," said Vinette. "We started building boats in 1949 and the largest one before this was a 34-foot commercial fishing vessel. Altogether we have built 16 boats so far, mostly for commercial and sports fishermen."

The 60-footer under construction is a rather special job, since it is designed as a tug with cruising accommodations. Capt. Becker plans to use the boat in his business as a tug for about three years and then fit her out for world cruises for himself and his wife.

Capt. Becker is past president of the Detroit Propeller Club and sponsors the annual International Tug Boat Races on the Detroit River. He is planning to retire in about three years and will use the boat now being built in Escanaba for ocean cruising.

The boat will be equipped with twin General Motors diesels developing a little over 400 horsepower, will have a cruising range of 6,000 miles, have a stainless steel galley, and will provide extended cruising accommodations for 10 persons, according to Vinette. Its cruising speed will be approximately 12 miles an hour.

Experienced Builders

When the boat is ready for launching next summer it will be moved on trailers to the marine railway at the Escanaba yacht basin. The power equipment will be installed after the boat is in the water. Weight of the craft before launching will be approximately 27 tons, Vinette said. The boat will be ready in early fall for delivery to its owner in Detroit.

The T. D. Vinette Company's entry into the boat building industry came about quite naturally from the company's facilities, and the experience and inclination of Vinette and his works manager, Emerson Kidd. Vinette has always been interested in boats and served in the U. S. Navy during World War II, while Kidd was a builder of boats before the Vinette Company was organized.

Originally located in the 500 block, Ludington St., with its iron and steel fabrication business, the first Vinette Company boat was built there in 1949. Outgrowing its shop on Ludington St., the company recently moved into its new home at 2201 6th Ave. N., which has 6,000 square feet of shop floor space.

Biggest And First

Is there a future for an Escanaba boat building business? Vinette is sure there is. "We've turned out 16 boats before this one, we have the experience, and we now have a shop that is big enough for our needs," Vinette pointed out.

Within another year or two the 60-footer now being built in Escanaba for Capt. Becker of Detroit will be cruising from the Great Lakes to the ocean and thence to the Caribbean. Mr. and Mrs. Becker are planning to visit ports as far distant as South America, perhaps take a world cruise.

The boat now under construction by the Vinette Company in Escanaba will be, therefore, not only the largest ever launched here but also the first for salt water cruising.

Mysterious Donor Left A Bedstead

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — Somebody presented the Robert C. Childs family with a brand new bed. It was standing in the living room when they returned from Sunday church services. Police advised them to keep it until they heard from the real owner, if one ever put in a claim.

Dale Vinette, Emerson Kidd and Frank Rodman of the T. D. Vinette Company are shown here looking over blueprints of the 60-foot boat that the company will build in Escanaba.

Peter C. Dube At 76 Still Skates Five Miles Each Day

Escanaba — Like Old Man River, Peter C. Dube just keeps rolling along.

Pete, who reached his 76th birthday on Jan. 17, skates at least five miles a day and usually 10 miles. He claims the world's championship for ice skaters over 70 and is ready and willing — even eager — to defend his claim to the championship.

The other day Dube heard about a man in the Copper Country, Tim Dwyer, who was reported to be quite a skater at the age of 70 and Dube promptly filed his challenge for a match, one mile heats, best two out of three.

Dwyer rejected the challenge with the statement that the race would be unwise.

"Supposing one of us fell or exerted ourselves to the limit. Either of us might suffer a heart attack or broken bones. We're not kids anymore. I would say it's too big a risk to take for fleeting glory."

Skates Every Day

Put Dube doesn't worry about breaking any bones or suffering a heart attack either. He says that he can still skate a mile heat in less than three minutes — the world record is 2:32. As for falling and breaking his bones, well, Pete Dube has skated literally thousands of miles, usually at racing speed, and no one in Escanaba has seen him fall yet.

Dube skates in the outdoor rink at Royce Park at 11:30 each morning. He skates at least five miles and if he feels right, he adds another five miles to the schedule. In the evening he skates at the indoor rink in the fairgrounds, practicing on the small rink where sure-footedness in making the sharp turns is more important than bursts of great speed.

Dube has been a fixture of the Escanaba Ice Revue each year and he will be in action for each performance of the ice show next week, skating a quarter mile against time each evening.

Started At Age 7

Dube has been skating since he was seven years old. He was born in Montreal and came to the Upper Peninsula in 1885. His family moved back to Montreal after a couple years and Dube returned to the Upper Peninsula in 1894. He lived at Manistique until 1899 when he moved to Escanaba. He started his speed skating career in Manistique.

Dube claimed the Upper Peninsula speed skating championship in the winter of 1897 and 1898. That season he defeated Jim Troyer of the Soo and Tom Dundon of Ishpeming in match races over a one mile course, best two out of three heats.

In 1921 Dube applied for a job as skating instructor at the old Chicago Arena. He got the job and an assignment to train Bobby McLean for his match with Oscar Matheson of Oslo, Norway.

Trainer Of Champions

Dube trained McLean for three weeks and the Chicago champion beat Matheson in five of the seven races at the Chicago Arena over distances ranging from 200 yards to two miles. McLean lost the quarter mile and the one-mile races.

Two weeks later Dube was with McLean again when McLean met Matheson for the second time in a match at St. Paul. McLean lost only the one-mile race in this match. The following year Dube trained McLean for a match race with Ed Lemay at Saranac Lake, N. Y. The race was for a $1,000 prize, one mile heats, best two out of three. McLean won the match.

That winter Dube took the North West Skating Club team of Chicago to Lake Placid, N. Y., for skating matches at the famed winter sports center and the eight Chicago skaters won virtually all of the races.

Professional Touch Features Escanaba Ice Revue Of 1955

A professional touch will be given to the annual Escanaba ice revue, "Ice Varieties of 1955," with its seven big production numbers plus the many featured acts, solos, doubles, foursomes and comedy stunts.

Especially creating a likeness to the big time shows will be the two production numbers, "Wizard of Oz" and "A Star Is Born," in which theater has been adopted to ice, complete with pantomime and narration. Both numbers are under the direction of Gordon Flath.

The largest cast ever to be used in one number since the Escanaba revue's beginning will be performing in the "Wizard of Oz." The 64 persons will range in age from four years old to the forties with many various ages between.

Featured Performers

Featured performers of the production are Donna Sullivan as Dorothy, who the number revolves around; Joan Hanson as the Tin Man; Kenny Nelson as the Scarecrow; Barbara Bertrand as the Lion; Jim Bushey as the Wizard; Judy Marcouiller and Joy Peterson, two pages; Carolyn Ward as Glinda, the Good Fairy; Mrs. Cleve Moore as Aunt Em; Cleve Moore as Uncle Henry and Lorene Jenkins as the Wicked Witch. Also participating will be the animals of Yellow Brick Road and the Munchkinland boys and girls.

First scene of the "Wizard" number opens with a farm yard as the background setting, and Aunt Em and Uncle Henry are seated on the porch with Dorothy, who is sitting a little beyond them, dreaming of something somewhere over the rainbow. With this scene, a great storm arises, made most realistic by lightning and sound effects, and Dorothy goes to find her dog. As the storm ends, signified by the appearance of a rainbow, Dorothy is shown with the dog.

Dorothy in Never-Never Land is the theme of scene two, which begins with a solo by the starring young lady. Upon completion of her solo, the Munchkinland boys and girls do their routine followed by the appearance of Glinda, the Good Fairy. The Fairy presents a pair of slippers to Donna for good luck, which is told by the narrator.

Blackout Number

A blackout is used for the start of scene three, Dorothy on Yellow Brick Road. Transfixed, as statues, when the lights go on will be the Scarecrow, Tin Man and Lion. Dorothy skates onto the ice with the little animals, all the tiny tots of the show, from Yellow Brick Road. The animals do their tricks after which Dorothy shows them the way off. She then pins her silver slippers on and skates to the Scarecrow, then the Tin Man and the Lion, pantomiming with all three. All four of them proceed in search of the Wizard of Oz so he might grant their wishes. The Lion wants courage, the Tin Man desires a heart and the Scarecrow wishes for brains.

Dorothy in Emerald City is scene four. As the four skaters approach the city, two pages appear with page horns to herald their arrival, and the lighting shows Emerald City. The Wizard appears from the top of the city, and asks them what they wish. After he has heard them, he requests them to destroy the Wicked Witch of the South before granting their desires.

Scene five relates the story of Dorothy and the Wicked Witch. This opens with a sleeping scene on ice as the four persons in search of the Witch grow weary. While they are sleeping, the Witch approaches and is about to grab Dorothy when the girl awakens and asks the others for help. The Tin Man and Lion chase the Witch and disappear. Shortly after the Lions returns with the Witch's hood, the sign of her death. The four are then joined by all the boys and girls and animals, who skate off once more, followed by the four in search of the Wizard.

"A Star Is Born"

As they approach Emerald City, its lights go on again. The scene portrays the Wizard presenting the four with their desires, a crown of beauty to the Lion, now king of the beasts; a diploma to the Scarecrow, signifying knowledge and brains; a heart to the Tin Man, giving him the ability to once again love, and magic power to Dorothy's silver slippers.

Final of this large production is "Somewhere Over the Rainbow" and ends with a complete blackout as the narration concludes.

"A Star Is Born," the second production number using theater on ice, utilizes 24 skaters. Large attraction of this number is that it features a mother and daughter team, Jeanette and Jeanne LeCaptain.

Persons appearing in the cast are Jeanne LeCaptain, baby starlet; Jeanette LeCaptain, teenage starlet and star; Cleve Moore, director; James Cretens, leading man; Judy Jensen and Lois Olson, maids; Sharon Cormier and Mary Peterson, make up girls; Judy Norton and Mary Jo Mileski, photographers; Mary Adam and Donna Pepin, flower girls; Mary Cretens and Beverly Dagenais, autograph girls and eight girls of the chorus line.

"Manhattan Serenade"

Setting for the number's opening is a Hollywood premier and background music is "Manhattan Serenade." Lights for the premier are worked with narration, which states, "A star high in the heavens and a star humble on this earth." Immediately a spotlight focuses on a big star which lowers above a trunk to the narration of "I Was Born in a Trunk." The trunk opens and Jeanne LeCaptain steps out and is featured in a solo. Upon completion of her solo, she goes off ice throwing kisses to the audience.

Jeanette, mother of Jeanne, then appears as a teenage starlet. Also on stage are the director and chorus girls who are skating to "Limehouse Blues" with Jeanette as center chorus girl. The girls of the line do their routine, and the director selects Jeanette from the chorus as the others drift back. The selected girl goes into a solo to Sonja Henie's theme song, "One in a Million," then skates in the same routine as daughter, Jeanne previously did.

Show business on ice is staged, complete with make-up girls, autograph girls and the Leading Man enters. He skates to "Top Hat and White Tails" with a debonaire manner. The Star enters, attired in orchid and gold, and she and the Leading Man skate as a double. Following this, she turns the Leading Man down and is left alone on ice, sitting on the trunk. Then smiling, she arises and solos to "The Man Who Got Away."

The stage crew once again appears with the same panorama of make-up persons, flower girls and photographers. The flash from the photographers' cameras signals the end of the production, ending with the narration of "A Star Is Born."

The complete musical score is used in the "Wizard of Oz" while several numbers of the score are used in "A Star Is Born."

Humidity Problem In Home Can Cost You Lots Of Fuel

It takes more than temperature to keep a house comfortable. You may have felt chilly recently when your thermometer registered 70 or 75 degrees. Why is that?

Well, we aren't going to plug red flannel underwear, but we'd like to bet that you never heard anyone turn that old summer broomside around and say "It's not the cold; it's the humidity."

Believe it or not, the humidity or lack of it can be to blame. And this can cost you a lot in fuel.

More people seem to be bothered by this humidity problem in the winter than during the muggiest summer periods. When the weather is hot, we all seem to be in a fog anyway. But at this time of the year the mail is heavy with complaints ranging from houses reeking with moisture—with "sweating" windows spoiling painted woodwork and wallpaper—to homes so dry that furniture falls apart and mysterious nosebleeds occur.

Both types of letters come from the same towns and the same neighborhoods. There are various reasons.

New Houses are naturally full of moisture. It can take a few years for them to dry out. Old houses are so dry they're thirsty for moisture. Unregulated humidifiers on heating plants are no answer to such problems.

In recent weeks this writer sampled the weather people complain about. Starting from below freezing in the Connecticut area, we encountered a wide range of temperatures down the East Coast. There was fog on the windows in a freakish near-freezing spell in Florida, then 87 in Cuba, back to zero around Chicago, and down to 18 below in Minnesota. Brother, we can sympathize.

But we never happened to find a hygrometer or humidistat in use in any house we visited in that big area. We probably just visited the wrong homes.

Those two instruments can be just as useful as thermometers. A hygrometer, for instance, shows fairly accurately how much moisture the air in your house contains. It works similarly to a thermometer, only instead of registering degrees, it registers the percentage of relative humidity.

This is based on the amount of moisture the air can hold without causing a rainstorm, at various degrees of temperature. At 70 degrees, for example, a cubic foot of air is supposed to hold 8 grains of water without spilling it. If that cube contains only 2 grains, or one-quarter its capacity, your hygrometer should register 25 per cent.

This walnut corner whatnot is just the thing for a collection of Victorian glass or bric-a-brac. It stands about four feet high and the sides and shelves cut economically from a three by four foot panel of plywood. A plywood with walnut finish on one side is recommended for this set of shelves as the most appropriate type of wood for the purpose. The slight increase in cost will be more than made up for by the richness of the finished job. The shaped shelves that are graduated in size are traced directly onto the wood from the pattern. The assembling process is very simple and covered in detail on pattern 424 which is 25c.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

COMPACT, ECONOMICAL and comfortable for a very small family, this house is designed for construction without a basement. Heater room off center hall envisions the use of sliding or folding doors. A large pantry, an outside tool closet and several built-ins are among features. This is plan H-330-P by the Homograft Co., 11711 East Eight Mile Rd., East Detroit, Mich. The house covers 1,146 square feet. (AP Newsfeatures)

Norma Finucane, who is the home economist for the Taylor Instrument companies in Rochester, N. Y., was telling us recently what this can mean in physical comfort.

"With the so-called ideal temperature of 72 degrees," she said, "a relative humidity of 25 per cent, which is dry air, can cause us to feel cold, while at the same temperature, a relative humidity of 80 per cent, which is wet air, will produce a warm discomfort."

The ideal balance, she contends, is a relative humidity of about 50 per cent when the indoor temperature is 72 degrees.

A humidistat goes the hygrometer one step more. It registers the humidity and regulates the humidifier on a heating plant accordingly. Humidistats are so sensitive they react to the moisture in your breath. We tried that at a recent Minneapolis exhibit.

You can get combination thermometer-hygrometers from around a couple of dollars up. Humidistats, being electrically wired, naturally run higher.

In summer, of course, humidity is just as big a factor in home comfort. With air conditioning, you don't have to lower the temperature of a house so much as you have to dehumidify the air. Cut the temperature less than 10 degrees, but lower the humidity, and you'll keep cool.

However, humidity isn't the whole story, say the engineers of the Lennox Furnace Co. After studying this problem of keeping the fidgety from complaining, these experts suggest four procedures in this order:

1. Keep the air in gentle, almost imperceptible motion.
2. Maintain the proper amount of humidity.
3. Filter and clean the air.
4. Prevent staleness by a proper admixture of fresh air.

Now we all can put on airs.

Panels, Planks Or Wall Tiles; Take Your Pick

The matter of building an attic room, or basement rumpus room, or of remodeling any other room, is no more than decided and right away you are faced with another important decision.

It is: What wallsurfacing material to use? There are several kinds, as you will see. All are good. Which it will be depends on the individual taste and pocketbook, and on whether you wish the atmosphere of the room to be light, heavy, casual or just plain jazzy. Let's take your choices one at a time.

Fiberboard—This material is made chiefly from wood or vegetable fibers. Lightweight and relatively soft, it is not nearly as durable as some of the others, but has considerable thermal insulating value. Also, it soundproofs to some extent.

Inexpensive, it is available in predecorated or unfinished panels, tiles and planks.

Hardboard—It's made of real wood particles tightly compressed into extremely dense, hard-surfaced panels. A variety of surface textures and patterns is available, perforated and corrugated being among them. Generally unfinished, one type has a preprimed surface.

Prices of the material range widely, as do the panel sizes. Thickness for wall application are from 1/8 to 1/4 inch, the thinner panels being right for installation on existing walls, the thicker ones for installation directly over open framing.

Plastic-Surfaced Hardboard—Same as hardboard, except that it has a factory-applied plastic finish—solid color, wood grain or marbled—and is obtainable in planks and block (tiles) as well as panels.

Plaster/Asbestos Wallboard—Low in cost and fairly durable, its surface is fire-resistant. It's commonly purchased in 4x8-foot panels 3/8 or 1/2-inch thick, and in prefinished or simulated wood-grain planks.

Usually the joints between panels (not planks) are sealed after installation with a combination of special joint cement and perforated tape to resemble plaster walls.

Plywood—In a higher-cost bracket, this familiar material, too, comes in panels and prefinished planks, either of which is available with surface veneers of various grains, textures and wood species.

Generally the 1/4-inch panels in 4x4-foot or 4x8-foot size are used on walls. A popular new practice is that of applying plywood panels over open framing or furring strips with instant-bonding cements only—no nails or other fasteners.

Linoleum, Vinyl and Rubber—Primarily flooring materials, these can also be glued to smooth solid wall surfaces of plaster, plasterboard or hardboard. They come in rolls or tiles and are durable. Linoleum is least expensive, rubber the most costly.

Cork—It comes in thin tiles for application with adhesive on solid walls, and in hardboard-backed sheets. It has insulating and sound-absorbing value, but should be sealed with liquid cork sealer or wax if not factory prefinished, for it stains if not treated. Price is moderately high.

Lumber—Last but not least are the ever-popular tongued-and-grooved boards in nearly every species of wood imaginable. The rarer the wood, the more expensive it is. It's up to the buyer to finish the boards to his taste.

There are several methods of applying the materials mentioned above. Most of the plank materials can be installed over solid walls, furring strips or open framing with adhesive, nails or special metal clips. Tiles are

Wallpaper Hanging Easy, Some Claim

Here's a challenge for you: A 70-year-old woman says "Anybody can put up wallpaper. I've just finished my third room."

How does she do it? Easy, she says. What's more she offers her tips and makes it sound simple.

The most important thing, she says, is preparation. Gather up the things you need beforehand—the exact amount of wallpaper, a good sharp knife, razor or other implement sold for the purpose, scissors, wallpaper paste, brush and a mixing implement. Grandma used a big wooden spoon. Here's how according to her:

1. Scrub your wall down. Rinse it. Size it. (Water type paints aren't too good as a base and it is better if the paint can be re-generally glued up, while most panels are nailed, or glued and nailed.

FIX-IT FORUM

Q—The walls of our unheated upstairs rooms sweat in winter. Can you tell us how to stop that?

—Mrs. F. C. K.

A—Water vapor generated by cooking, bathing, clothes drying, etc., may be condensing on the cold walls. Ventilating the rooms is one answer. It's also possible that, if your basement is warmer than the rest of the house, moisture there is being evaporated and carried to the upper parts of the house by convection currents. In which case you might take steps to cool the basement.

NOW . . . individual temperature control in each room, at a cost which permits its use in any home or building

You never saw anything like it. With SelectTemp you have a compact heating unit, with its own individual thermostat, in every room, including bathrooms. The same low-pressure steam which carries heat to each unit operates a steam turbine driven fan which quietly circulates filtered warm air. Circulation is constant, not "on-and-off." No electric wiring is required for thermostat or fan.

Think of the comfort of having every room kept at just the temperature the occupants prefer. Cost? Very reasonable. Little more—or no more—than for many heating systems with only one thermostat in the whole house. Ideal for modernization and for new construction.

Buying Habits To Be Scanned

A Gladstone business survey arranged for last fall with the University of Michigan Extension service will be made this coming week, it was disclosed at the regular meeting of the Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce Thursday night.

Questionnaires used in connection with the survey will be sent into local homes through pupils of the 4th through 10th grades of both public and parochial schools and it is requested that they be returned to the school as quickly as possible.

Banners for the city-wide sale to be held next Friday and Saturday will be distributed by high school students on Monday or Tuesday to local business houses.

The directors voted to purchase a $75 advertisement in the Delta County Tourist Guide put out by Clarence Moreau.

A follow-up letter relative to the proposed four-lane highway between Gladstone and Escanaba is being forwarded to the Gladstone City Commission and the State Highway office at Newberry.

Ballots Ready

The directors voted to take five memberships in the Gladstone Ski Club to aid in the member drive now in progress.

Final ballots for use in the director election to be held this month will be mailed with copies of the proceedings of the board meeting, Secretary Theophil Hoffmann reports. Members would vote for four of the nine persons listed.

A vote of thanks was given to the retiring directors: namely O'Neil D'Amour, H. T. Brewer, Walter Tang and Ed Parkhurst.

Ten memberships for 1955 already have been received, it was reported by Secretary Hoffmann, who suggested that others can save postage by enclosing their checks when they return their ballot on the directors.

Welfare Club Meets Monday

A regular meeting of the Child's Welfare Club will be held Monday evening at the home of Mrs. George Kelly on the bluff at South Gladstone.

There will be a short business meeting at 8 with a program, lunch and cards following.

The program will include a review of the book "Seduction of the Innocent" by Dr. Frederic Wertham by Margaret Olson, librarian at the Gladstone Public and School Library, and a short talk on what has been done in Gladstone to remedy the comic book situation by City Commissioner Michael LaPine.

The committee in charge of the meeting includes the Misses Donna Mae Lindahl and Elizabeth Nelson, co-chairmen and the Mmes. Wynand Nieuwenkamp, Fern Hall, George Craft, John Nelson, Martin Van Donsel, Lorraine Murphy, Emmett Kennedy, and J. L. Jacobsen and the Misses Elsie Reimer, Alice Garrett and Helen Erickson.

Library Receives Historical Gift

A facsimile of General Robert E. Lee's general order No. 9, in which he informed the Army of Northern Virginia of the terms of his surrender to General Ulysses Grant in April, 1865, has been received by the Manistique Public library from Samuel R. Rosenthal, former Manistique High School student now practicing law in Chicago.

The facsimile was made with a deceptone offset reproduction of a document obtained from Forest H. Sweet, collector and dealer in Battle Creek.

The order is signed by General Lee and countersigned by Brig. Gen. W. H. Stevens. In it General Lee tells how General Grant permitted Confederate soldiers to keep their horses and sidearms and asked that all be paroled to their homes, free from Federal interference unless they violated parole.

The gift brochure also contains historical data relating to General Lee's surrender to Grant, and an explanation of the plan used in reproducing the letter.

Rosenthal has annually provided a $250 scholarship for a Manistique High School student for the past 10 years and also has made other donations to students and the school. The scholarship fund is a memorial to his parents, Lazarus and Rachel Rosenthal.

The Manistique Rooftoppers posted a 69-61 win over the Gulliver quint in the old gym here Thursday night to tie the Gulliver team for first place standing in the city basketball league.

The Rooftoppers scored 22 points in the first quarter to gain a 7-point edge which gave them their margin for victory. In the second and third quarters they had margins of but one point over Gulliver cagers, and in the fourth they scored one less than Gulliver.

W. St. John bucketed 20 points to lead scoring for the Rooftoppers, with Bill Sheahan tossing in 15 points, Thompson 13 and Swarstrom 11. Hinkson and Hough hit the hoops for 14 points each to lead in Gulliver scoring.

LaBrasseur, a Gulliver high-point man, was unable to play the entire game because of an ankle-sprain sustained in the fourth quarter.

The Rooftoppers were aided in their climb to the top league rungs when a game which they lost to Paper Mill team was forfeited to them because ineligible players were used on the mill squad.

The city league standings are as follows:

Team	W	L
Gulliver	7	2
Rooftoppers	7	2
Paper Mill	2	6

Frank Lloyd Wright, Famed Architect, To Remain In Wisconsin

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Architect Frank Lloyd Wright, who had declared he would leave Wisconsin because he wasn't appreciated, says he now plans to remain in his native state because he has found affection and thoughtfulness he never knew existed.

The famed dean of American architects was honored at a testimonial dinner here Thursday night. He also was given a check for $10,000 "as a token of appreciation" to help him pay back taxes on his studio home at Spring Green, Wis.

It was last November that Wright said he would leave Wisconsin. That was just after the State Supreme Court ruled that Wright's fellowship school for architects at Spring Green did not qualify as an educational institution and that Wright therefore was subject to pay some $18,000 in back taxes.

Wright said that his proposed exodus from his native state did not involve the back taxes but a lack of appreciation.

limping goose
by Frank Gruber

XXIV
His hands bound behind his back, Sam relaxed on the sofa in the rustic lodge. Sid sat in a chair opposite, then, becoming bored, got up and wandered about the room. He went into the kitchen and Sam heard a refrigerator door open and close. Then the gurgle of a bottle of beer being poured into a glass.

Sam gripped his teeth and twisted mightily on the ropes that held his wrists tightly together. They relaxed a little, giving him some play. But it was a fairly new clothesline and very strong.

Sid re-entered the room, carrying a glass of beer. "Mud in your eye, fat boy!"

"Leonard ain't big enough to take Johnny all by himself," Sam said.

"Maybe somebody'll help him." "Who?"

"Fella who paid us for this job doesn't want his name known."

"I could tell him one thing right now," Sam said. "He's gonna be awful disappointed, even if he does get those coins."

"That's his business," said Sid. He returned to the kitchen. Sam heard the icebox door open once more. He got to his feet, went in to a half crouch and drew a huge breath. Then, exerting every bit of his tremendous strength, he gave his wrists a slow, mighty twist.

The rope cut into the skin, went deep into the flesh. Pain shot through his arms to his shoulders, but Sam persisted. A half inch, an inch—and then the ropes burst!

Sam's hands were free. But he was gasping from the exertion and pain. He scooped, snatched up the ends of the knotted rope and holding them behind his back, sat down again on the sofa.

Sid came in, carrying a fresh glass of beer. Sam was breathing heavily and Sid looked at him suspiciously.

"I can't stick around much longer," Sam said. He half rose to his feet.

"Down, fat boy!"

Sam brought his hands in front of him. Sid gasped in astonishment. The glass of beer slipped through his fingers, smashed on the hardwood floor. His right hand darted for his coat pocket.

Sam lunged forward, grabbed the hand just as it was going into the pocket. He twisted it. Sid let out a scream of anguish.

Brakes squealed and a 1937 car

pulling up beside Sam. "I'm only going a little way," he said, "but if you want a lift, you're welcome."

"Thanks, mister, you saved my life," cried Sam. "How far's it to New York?"

"I dunno rightly," was the reply. "I ain't been there in years. But Peekskill's just a hop and a jump from here."

The little car roared along, turning off the Parkway a few minutes later. It rattled along a street, paved with large cobblestones, then turned down a street lined with stores and small office and professional buildings.

The man pulled up before the hotel. Sam got out. "Thanks a million mister. You save my life!"

Sam found a leather chair not too far from the hotel desk. A bellboy walked through the lobby. One came in from the front, went into the dining room. The first bellboy took up a post near the desk. Five minutes went by. Sam got a whiff of roast beef from the dining room and practically drooled.

Another five minutes. Then the bellboy turned from the desk. "Mr. Pinkley, calling Mr. Pinkley."

Sam got to his feet. The bellboy walked toward the front of the lobby and called out Mr. Pinkley's name. He returned to the desk, calling once more.

No Mr. Pinkley showed up. That

Eskymos Lose Uphill Battle To Menominee

MENOMINEE — The Escanaba Eskymos staged an uphill battle here last night but fell short in the closing minutes of the game and lost a 57-54 verdict to the tall Menominee Maroons.

Menominee took an 18-13 lead with 6-4 Dick Nielsen setting the scoring pace in the first period.

In the second Coach Jim Betchek's Eskymos rallied to tie it at 18-18 but the Maroons pulled away with a quick spurt to lead 32-25 at the half.

Eskymos Battle Back

Maroon Jerry Steppke opened the third period with a quick pair of buckets to give Menominee an 11-point spread, 36-25, but the Eskymos refused to fold and rammed in 13 points while holding Menominee to a single bucket to gain a 38-38 tie. Forward Jim Beck scored five of those points and hit 11 in the period.

Before the third period ended the Maroons had pulled back in front by three points, 47-44.

In the final quarter it was nip and tuck and both teams took turns at the basket. Menominee retaining its three-point lead. With three minutes to play Nielsen missed a free throw and Dick Johnson batted in the rebound to give the Maroons a 57-52 lead.

Menominee went into a freeze in the last minute of the game but the Eskymos broke it up and laid down a basket barrage with Bill

Bolm scoring with 32 seconds to play. After that the Eskymos missed three short shots before the Maroons got final control. Escanaba was off its shooting form in the final quarter and missed 13 shots at the basket.

Height Pays Off

Menominee's height paid off under both boards as the Maroons dominated rebounds. They hauled 34 rebounds with Johnson pulling in eight, Wozniak and Nielsen seven each.

Escanaba lost the services of Beck midway in the final period and Menominee's Gene Steppke went out on fouls halfway through the third quarter.

Bolm took scoring honors for the night with 16 points while Beck and Wozniak hit 15 apiece and Nielsen 14.

The Maroons scored three more field goals than the Eskymos and added seven free throws out of 20. Escanaba hit 10 foul shots out of 21.

Redskins Rally To Nip Alpha 61-59 In Little Seven Clash

HERMANVILLE — The Hermansville Redskins came from behind in the final minutes of play here last night to win a valuable 61-59 verdict over the Alpha Mastodons.

The Little Seven Conference victory keeps Hermansville tied for top spot in the standings with Powers. The win was the 13th against three defeats for Coach Don Hill's Redskins this season.

Hermansville trailed by five points, 59-54, with 3:45 remaining in the game. Eugene Stockero dropped in a field goal and Lloyd LaCasse canned a bucket to cut the margin to 59-58.

Schultz stepped to the foul line with 45 seconds left and converted two free throws to put the Redskins ahead 60-59. With 12 seconds left John Farley of Hermansville was fouled and a technical foul was called on the Alpha coach. Farley missed both his shots but LaCasse made the shot for the technical to put Hermansville ahead 61-59. The Redskins got control of the ball and held on for the final 10 seconds.

LaCasse led the Redskins in scoring with 22 points. Farley and Schultz also scored in double figures. John Kocinski of Alpha took honors for the night with 25.

The Redskins were outscored from the field, 21 baskets to 19, but hit on 23 free throws for the margin of victory. Alpha scored 17 gift tosses.

The Hermansville Bees also won last night, taking a 31-22 verdict in the preliminary game.

Manistique Trims Newberry Indians By 83 To 78 Score

MANISTIQUE—The Manistique Emeralds vaulted into an early lead and staved off a Newberry rally to score an 83-78 Great Lakes Conference victory last night.

The Emeralds won in a wild and woolly battle studded by personal fouls. Manistique was faced with a two-platoon Newberry attack that raced wildly up and down the floor, and the Emeralds suffered from the fouls, committing 33 in the action-packed game.

Three Emeralds went out of action on fouls before the game ended and Coach Rudie Brandstrom had to call on his reserves to protect the margin late in the fourth period.

Bob Hastings, Manistique's center, hit his scoring peak to pump in 15 field goals and four free throws for 34 points. Ed Bernier contributed 19 and Bill Holm 10 to the Manistique scoring total, which set a season high for the Emeralds.

Manistique took a 17-16 edge in the first period and then sprinted to a 37-23 lead at the half. Newberry, with Al Villemure scoring 21 points, cut the deficit to 61-56 entering the fourth quarter.

The Emeralds held off Newberry effectively in the final period and never let the Indians catch up. Villemure, who had scored only three points in the first two periods, added nine more in the fourth quarter and finished with 33 points to trail Hastings in the scoring column.

In spite of the high number of fouls called, Newberry was unable to take advantage of numerous free throws, canning only 20. Manistique hit 19 and outscored the Indians 64-58 from the field.

Rizzuto Facing Crucial Season

MIAMI, Fla. (P)—Phil Rizzuto, fading New York Yankee shortstop, and Jim Piersall, flashy Boston Red Sox outfielder, represent the before-and-after in a baseball player's comeback effort.

Piersall has made a successful return after a mental breakdown in 1952; Rizzuto's playing life will be at stake in the coming season.

"It's a key year for me," Rizzuto said today. "I have to prove myself all over again—and I know that's tough to do at 36."

The little scooter, once a flawless fielder and a fearsome fellow with a bat, had a disappointing 1954 season.

"I had no confidence in myself last year," Phil said.

Rizzuto and Piersall are competing in the 15th National Baseball Players Golf Tournament at Miami Springs Municipal Course.

Piersall, who knows what it means to have to stage a comeback, credits golf with helping save his baseball career.

"After I got out of that mental hospital," Jim said, "I was a little tight and jittery—afraid to look folks in the eye, afraid they would flinch and think, 'There's that nut Piersall.' Facing people again was the worst part."

"Golf had a big hand in helping me relax again and get into condition—mentally and physically—to

Scoring Record Set In Michigan Tech Win

HOUGHTON (P)—Forward Ray Trewhella scored 30 points Friday night to set a new school varsity record and lead Michigan Tech to topside 116-83 basketball victory over Ferris Institute.

His teammate, center Herman Gierow, who set the old record of 27 points last year, got 24.

Forward Clint Hurdle was high for Ferris with 23 points.

In This Corner With Ray Crandall

How about those Escanaba Hawks ... It's phenomenal the way they can come from behind to catch their opponents in the late stages of the game ... One thing about this year's edition of the Hawks—they never give up, no matter how badly things happen to be going ... It is by far the best hockey team to represent the city in our memory ... Incidentally, they play only two more regular season home games in the current campaign ... They will be host to the Marquette Sentinels Sunday afternoon, Feb. 27, and to the Portage Lake Pioneers Tuesday night, March 1 ... They'll also be at Portage Lake Feb. 22 and at Calumet March 5.

BOWLING NOTES — The Schlitz team in the Elks Tuesday (9) League knocked down a bunch of splits the other night ... Bill Bisdee picked up the 6-10-7, John O. (Whitely) Moberg twice spilled the 7-5-9 and Howard J. McDonough scored on the 5-6-9.

In dartball, E. E. Nyberg tied a Delta County Church League record by scoring eight hits in one game, but it was for a losing cause as the Central Methodist team of Escanaba dropped a 6-5 game to the Calvary Lutherans of Rapid River this week ... Nyberg registered seven singles and a triple, equalling the previous record held by Dennis Artley of the Gladstone Red Shirts and Erwin Ten Haken of the Escanaba First Methodists.

This area seems to be well-fixed in basketball ability this season. Quite a number of local teams are rated high in the Upper Peninsula lists as selected each week by sports writers ... Holy Name is rated second and Escanaba fifth in Class B. Gladstone second in Class C. Rock second and Rapid River fourth in Class D and Hermansville second in Class E.

Powers Hands Felch 87-71 Defeat; Tied For Conference Lead

AKRON, Ohio (P)—Ronnie Delaney, an Akron right hander who boxes from a southpaw stance, upset welter champion Johnny Saxton Friday night in a 10-round non-title bout.

Frankie Palermo, manager for the New York champ, said the bout was "close all the way but I thought my boy won by a narrow decision."

Referee Eddie Atlas and Judges Harold Minto and Sam Taormina decided it was close, but the other way around. All of them picked the unranked Delaney, Atlas by 100-92, Minto by 97-96 and Taormina by 98-93.

Just how the officials scored the bout, round by round, was not known immediately. The Akron Boxing Commission impounded the cards, saying it wanted to give Palermo first chance to see them. They may be made public late today.

Neither boxer was marked and there was no knockdown. Saxton admitted the bout was close and said he probably was a little rusty.

The champ weighed in 148 pounds, a half-pound heavier than Delaney. Saxton's record now stands at 46 victories, three losses and two draws.

Delaney has won 48, lost one and tied three.

Cousy Hot Again But Celtics Lose 105-101

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Don't blame Bob Cousy if the Boston Celtics don't finish on top of the eastern division of the National Basketball Assn. He's doing his share.

For example, the Boston ace scored 33 points Friday night against Philadelphia. It was the second time in three nights that he had dunked that many points.

But the Warriors won 105-101 as Paul Arizin threw in 34 points and Neil Johnston 28.

Sixteen of Cousy's points came in the first quarter to equal a record set by Joe Fulks, former Warrior ace, in 1947.

In the opener of the Philadelphia doubleheader, superior all-around scoring punch gave Rochester a 91-83 triumph over Fort Wayne, the western division leader.

Indians, Blackhawks Play Home On Sunday

GLADSTONE—The Gladstone Indians, who have won their last three hockey games after a slow start, will step out of the Upper Peninsula Amateur League to-morrow afternoon to face a team from Ontonagon Falls, Wis., at 2 at the playgrounds rink.

Manager Gordon Haga's Indians have surged to the top spot in the UPAH League standings on the strength of their three straight victories.

Haga announced today that Norm Seguin may not be available for action Sunday. He suffered a face cut in his last game.

In the starting lineup will be Leon Mileski in the nets, Jim Artley and George Peterson on defense, Les Swanson, Haga and Hugh Roy on the first line. Spares will be Clarence Clark, Beans Pratt, John Cousineau, Harlan Breitman, Mel Olson and Dick Bizeau.

Wolverine Swimmers Defeat Spartans

EAST LANSING (P)—Michigan won eight of 10 first places and added seven second place finishes Friday night to defeat Michigan State College 65-28 in a swimming meet.

Burwell Bumpy Jones tied his own best time of 1:29.8, set in 1952 to win the 150-yard individual medley.

Michigan State's John Dudek won the 200-yard breast stroke in 2:29.7 for a new varsity, pool meet record.

Quinn Stars As Braves Topple Gwinn By 57-47

GLADSTONE — One of the largest crowds of the season watched the Gladstone Braves handle the Gwinn Model Towne, 57-47, in their final home game of the season here last night.

For Coach Cappy Keil's Braves it was the sixth straight victory in a 11-3 season record. Gladstone will play two more games, both on the road, against Marquette and Manistique. Wins would give the Braves the Great Lakes Conference basketball championship along with the league grid crown last fall.

Last night the Braves edged out to a 7-5 lead in the first period in which neither team could get the ball in near the basket. But in the second frame the Braves shook loose for 18 points and took the halftime intermission with a 25-13 margin.

The teams battled on even terms through the second half but Gwinn was never able to overcome Gladstone's second period advantage.

John Quinn, Gladstone center, turned in his best defensive game of the season. He held Jack Ghiardi, slender pivotman, and Fred Horrocks, tall guard, to 11 and 12 points apiece.

Quinn took scoring honors for the night with 18 on seven field goals and four free throws. The Braves were deadly from the charity line, tossing in 15 of 18 attempts. Outscored 42-28 from the field, Gwinn hit 19 of 29 shots from the foul line.

Gladstone's scoring was well-distributed among the starters.

Harold Johnson Kayos Andrews

NEW YORK (P)—Harold Johnson threw the perfect punch—a right to Paul Andrews' chin—and kindled hopes of another shot at Archie Moore's light heavyweight title.

Archie may have other ideas for he has been campaigning, long and loud, for a chance to meet heavyweight champ Rocky Marciano.

After Johnson's one-punch knockout of Andrews, the 2 to 1 favorite, in 1:46 of the sixth round Friday night at Madison Square Garden, the wheels started turning for another Johnson-Moore match.

When Johnson won a 10-round decision over Andrews last March 17 he got off the floor after a first round knockdown. He didn't have to come from behind this time. Referee Al Berl and Judge Harold Barnes had it 4-1 and Judge Frank Forbes 4-0-1 at the end of five, with Johnson way out front. Two gave Andrews the fifth and Forbes called the fourth even. The AP scored it 5-0.

Now, Bill, This Is Our Basket Over Here

NORTH ARLINGTON, N.J. (P)—Bill Ward, playing for Queen of Peace High School, set some sort of a basketball record Friday night. He dumped in two consecutive goals for the opposing team, Holy Trinity of Westfield.

Ward first took a jump ball and popped it into the wrong basket. Queen of Peace then put the ball into play and Ward did it again. The unexpected goals helped Holy Trinity win, 68-61.

DeMarco Holds Carter To Draw

BOSTON (P)—Lightweight king Jimmy Carter loomed today as a real threat to welterweight champion Johnny Saxton after battling to a rugged 10-round draw with Boston welter Tony De Marco in a non-title bout at Boston Garden.

The 31-year-old Carter, who has just about run out of opponents in his own division, made his invasion of the welter class against a worthy rival in De Marco.

Tony gave up height, reach and ring experience, but had the edge in age and weight. De Marco, 23, scaled 142½ to Carter's 138½.

There were scattered bores in the sixth and seventh session from some of the 12,163 fans who paid New England's second highest ring gate—$74.670.

The record of $154,000 was set in Carter's 10-knockdown slaughter of featherweight Tommy Collins in 1953.

It was a tense tussle between a couple of acknowledged hitters who can deal out punishment with either hand. They stood in close and banged away most of the route, although neither was floored or ever was in serious trouble.

Referee Jimmy McCarron had De Marco on top 97-96. Judge Harry Sundberg had Carter big, 99-94. Judge Joe Blumsack had it 96 each. The AP card had it a standoff at 95-95.

Separate Men From Boys In Bigtime College Basketball

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
They separate the men from the boys in five major college conference basketball races today after Brigham Young started the job Friday night with a 76-74 overtime upset of Utah in the Skyline. It was a rocking defeat for Utah, ranked fifth in this week's Associated Press poll and winner of 17 of 19 games this season—including seven straight in the conference. Tiny Terry Tebbis fired the shot that spilled the Utes, scoring with 18 seconds remaining in the overtime period.

Gophers Hope To Grab Big Ten Strangle Hold

CHICAGO (AP)—Minnesota, banking heavily on the home-floor advantage and superior height, hopes to grab a strangle hold on first place in the Big Ten race today against Illinois.

The game will be televised nationally (2 p.m. CST—CBS).

A victory by Minnesota over the second-place Illinois would give the leaders a 7-2 record with but one game to play against first-division teams and that being Iowa at Minnesota.

The Gophers beat Iowa at Iowa City earlier this season. A Minnesota loss would push Illinois to the top and could possibly drop the Gophers to third place if Iowa wins tonight.

Freeman Is Out
Iowa, tied with Illinois with 5-2, takes on Indiana's defending champions and Michigan State, still very much in the race with a 5-3 mark, is at Northwestern.

Kansas City Pitcher Is Tourney Medalist
MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—John Gray, Kansas City Athletics pitcher, slipped in ahead of the favorites Friday and grabbed medal honors in the 15th national baseball players golf championship.

The lanky right-hander shot a 75 to edge New York Giants shortstop Alvin Dark by a stroke. Par is 35-35-70.

Gray drew Milwaukee infielder Danny O'Connell, who qualified with an 85, as his match play opponent in today's first round. Dark was paired against Chicago White Sox hurler Virgil Trucks, who had an 86.

Defending champion Fred Hutchinson, Seattle manager who won last year while boss of the Detroit Tigers, qualified with an 82 and drew Joe Collins, New York Yankee first baseman. Collins qualified with a 93.

The last pitcher to shutout the Yankees in a World Series was Preacher Roe of the Dodgers. He beat them 1-0 in the second game of the 1949 Series.

Round Three Of Mile Battle Set Tonight
NEW YORK (AP)—Wes Santee, Gunnar Nielsen and Fred Dwyer will be back in Madison Square Garden tonight for Round 3 of their battle to see who can pull the world indoor mile record the lowest.

Two weeks ago, it was Santee who lowered it to 4:03.8. Then last week, Nielsen came right back and trimmed it to 4:03.6, while Santee and Dwyer wrestled 10 yards from home.

Most of the coaches and experts think Santee will win this one—the Baxter mile of the New York Athletic Club meet. They think that the Kansas cowboy hurt himself by staying around New York two weeks ago. For the past five days he has been training in Kansas. Santee is a record-conscious lad, and he makes no bones about hoping to break Nielsen's standard.

Nielsen wasn't saying much. He's the king now and it's up to Santee or Dwyer to dethrone him.

There are two other events on the program that very well could produce new world records.

One is the 500 in which Mal Whitfield, who holds the standard of 56.6 will tangle with Villanova's Charlie Jenkins for the first time. Young Jenkins has been attracting considerable notice with his feats at the middle distances.

Audun Boysen will set his sights on Don Gehrmann's 2:08.2 outdoor record for the 1,000 yards. Boysen holds the outdoor 1,000-meter mark.

Pitt's Arnold Sowell will be favored in the 880. Herman Wyatt should win the high jump and Parry O'Brien appears a shoo-in in the shotput. Jack Davis is the choice in the hurdles and Rod Richard in the 60-yard dash.

ROBIN FREEMAN

In other games, Michigan is at Purdue and Ohio State, playing without Robin Freeman, is at Wisconsin. Freeman, the Big Ten's leading scorer, has been forced out of the season because of illness and injuries.

Minnesota, paced by the shooting of Dick Garmaker and Chuck Mencil and the height of Bill Simonovich, 6 foot 11, 285 pound center, must contain Illinois' speed.

Illinois is no pushover on the road having whipped Michigan, Purdue and Ohio State and losing

Bennett And Knox Continue Fight For Peninsula Airports

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Bennett (R-Mich.) says he doubts whether the Civil Aeronautics Administration (CAA) official responsible for allotment of CAA construction funds to Michigan "knows the difference between an airport and a cow pasture."

Bennett clashed Friday with CAA Administrator Fred Lee during a House Commerce Committee hearing. He accused Lee's boss, Secretary of Commerce Weeks, of ignoring the Michigan Department of Aeronautics' recommendations on how $551,530 should be parceled out to various Michigan airports.

He criticized Weeks and the CAA for failing to allot any money for two Northern Michigan airports—at Escanaba and Iron Mountain—and for giving more than a third of Michigan's share of federal construction funds to Grand Rapids.

TWO ESCANABANS. Fred Sensiba, left, manager of Pioneer Aviation, and Ken L. Gunderman, editor of the Escanaba Press, were presented with plaques and citations as presidential advisors to H. N. Carr, president of North Central Airlines here yesterday. The presentations were made by Elaine Ignatowicz and Marna Jorgenson, airline hostesses of North Central Airlines, at a dinner meeting at the House of Ludington. The presentations were made in appreciation of the services of Sensiba and Gunderman in the development of local airline service in this area. Previously H. J. Norton of Escanaba, chairman of the Michigan Aeronautics Commission, had been similarly honored by North Central Airlines. A total of 30 such citations has been made in the states service by the airline.

Wood In Peninsula Going To Waste, Says Tech Engineer

LANSING (AP)—Walter H. Koepf came to Lansing the other day with a briefcase full of gold from unmined Michigan forests.

Koepf, a chemical engineer with the Michigan College of Mining and Technology, is trying to sell the idea that vast pulp resources are going to waste in Michigan, especially in the Upper Peninsula.

Most outdoorsmen, at first glance anyway, would take a dim view of any efforts to set up more pulp mills in a land Hiawatha would hardly recognize as home.

More Food For Deer

At the prospect of more mills, they immediately see visions of more polluted streams and stately trees tumbling to the ground.

This is not at all what would happen, Koepf says.

Scattered throughout the forest, he says, are thousands of hardwood trees, spared by woodmen looking for softwoods or plumper hardwood specimens.

These hardwoods—maple, birch, beech and especially aspen—can be made into corrugated board, "hardboard," rayon or even cellophane.

Koepf estimates these unused hardwoods could supply enough raw material to support, in the Upper Peninsula alone, seven corrugated board mills producing 150 tons a day apiece.

"There is still room in the Lower Peninsula for two sizable pulp mills using mixed hardwood," he says.

If Koepf is right, these new mills could not only mean much to the state economically, but also be a boon rather than a bane to sportsmen.

He reasons this way:

Cutting down the useless hardwoods now standing, clearing away the rubble, would mean the growth of new vegetation—food for a hungry deer herd.

Only Nibbles So Far

Economically, the mills could be a real shot in the arm for Michigan's north country, he says. Already, the lumber industry ranks ahead of copper and iron mining, fishing or agriculture in the Upper Peninsula. The mills would mean between 8,500 and 10,000 more jobs in that part of the state, he says.

Koepf maintains that new chemical processes allow dumping of pulp waste products into streams without reducing the oxygen content enough to harm fish life.

Koepf's briefcase contained samples of rayon, corrugated board and "hardboard" produced from Michigan hardwoods by the U. S. Forests Products Laboratory in Madison, Wis.

These products have also been tested by private firms and found commercially acceptable he said.

Now Koepf is working closely with the State Economic Development Department in an effort to sell the pulpwood idea to industry.

"We've done a lot of missionary work," he says, "but so far we've had only nibbles."

When someone bites, the Upper Peninsula may have the biggest catch it has in many a year.

Work out your own problems—if you trust to luck you soon won't have any luck to trust.

Adrian Publisher Buys Meteorite

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Stuart M. Perry, publisher of the Adrian, Mich., Telegram, now owns a valuable meteorite found on a country road last Nov. 30 by a 60-year-old Negro farmer.

The meteorite is thought to be a fragment of the same shooting star that struck Mrs. Hewlett Hodges, 31, of Sylacauga, who became the first human being ever hit by such a missile from outer space.

Purchase price of Perry's star fragment was not disclosed, but it was understood it was several hundred dollars.

Charles Cleveland, attorney for Julius K. McKinney, who found the object, said it was the largest ever paid for a fragment of that type. It was described as a chondritic meteorite—the most common of the stony types.

McKinney spotted the meteorite in the road when his mule shied at it.

"I didn't know what I threw away until the next day when I read about Mrs. Hodges getting hit," he said. "I went back and took it out of the ditch. Now, I'm going to buy that there mule the biggest dinner he will eat."

Iowa State Prison Forgotten Man Dies After 3-Year Freedom

INDIANOLA, Iowa (AP)—Ernest (Ole) Lindquist, 65, the one-time "forgotten man" of the Iowa State Penitentiary, died at his home Friday after less than three years freedom.

He had been ill with cancer since last December.

After serving 42 years of a life term for killing a policeman when he was 19, Ole was paroled through the determined efforts of a widow, the former Mrs. Addie Jackson. She corresponded and visited him in prison after learning he never received any letters.

Addie, 71, and Ole were married after he was paroled in 1952. They opened a shoe repair shop here, a trade he had learned at the penitentiary.
